Subpoenas Are Issued By Senate

Direct Three Top Officials to Turn Over Loyalty Files; Expect to be Balked

WASHINGTON, March 29—(AP)—Senate officers today served the first of three subpoenas demanding from top government officials the loyalty records which President Truman has declined to turn over to a Senate committee.

Joseph Duke, sergeant-at-arms, served his first subpoena on Harry B. Mitchell, chairman of the civil service commission, at the capitol. Mitchell had come to the capitol on business.

Duke had other subpoenas for Secretary of State Acheson and Attorney General McGrath.

The subpoenas demand —under "penalty" — that the officials produce loyalty records by next Tuesday and give them to the senate foreign relations subcommittee investigating charges of Communist infiltration of the state department.

Possible Penalty

The penalty is possible citation for contempt of the senate if the officials fail to heed the subpoenas.

KEY WEST, Fla., March 29—(AP)—The White House made it clear today that President Truman will defy attempts by the Senate committee investigating Communism in the State Department to subpoena loyalty records.

Asked about Mr. Truman's reaction to efforts to subpoena the records the president formally refused yesterday, presidential secretary Charles G. Ross referred reporters to the president's letter to Sen. Tydings (D-Md).

The letter referred to a directive of March, 1948, telling all federal officers to keep the files secret, "even in the instances where subpoenas" are received and added it was "clearly within the power of the president."

"That directive," Ross said, "still stands."

All of them are under instructions from President Truman that such records are not to be given to congressional committees. Mr. Truman issued a general order to that effect in 1948. He took the position then that there are long standing precedents for the executive branch of the government refusing to give documents to congress if it would be against the public interest.

The subcommittee, investigating charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) of Soviet espionage activities linked to the state department, demanded the full loyalty files reaching back to Jan. 1, 1940 for about 90 persons. The files sought are in the state department, the civil service loyalty board and the FBI.

The subpoenas would require the personal presence of Acheson, McGrath and Mitchell — with the files — before the inquiry group next Tuesday.

Truman's Reasons

Mr. Truman gave eight reasons why he doesn't want to open the files. He said public disclosure:

1. Would tip "criminals, foreign agents, subversives and others" on how the FBI works and put "additional shackles" on the FBI.

2. Would break confidence with persons who have furnished con-

Optimists Plan To Entertain The Governor

Winds up His Gas Tax Campaign Here Monday Night

Gov. Forrest Smith will windup his gasoline tax campaign in western Missouri, by delivering a statewide radio hookup address in the Pettis county circuit court room Monday evening at 8:15 o'clock, this being the night before April 4 special referendum election.

The governor and his group, if possible, will arrive late Monday afternoon and will be guests of the board of directors of the Sedalia Optimist club to a dinner in Bothwell hotel. Other guests at the dinner will be Mayor Julian H. Bagby and Noel Tweet, president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

The Sedalia Optimist club, sponsoring Gov. Smith's talk, invited him to make a talk at one of their March meetings but his schedule did not permit. As he is vitally interested in youth the governor asked to be called at a later date.

For Gasoline Tax

During the radio time he will talk on the proposed gas tax in an endeavor to get a favorable vote to give Missouri more and better roads. After he finishes the radio talk he will concentrate on the boys' work of the Optimist club. Since he is a member of the board for the proposed air academy he might have something of interest to say on this subject.

It is the hope of the officers and directors of the Sedalia Optimist club that every interested citizen will be present to hear the governor in the circuit court room.

Gov. Smith will be introduced by C. Patrick Darnell, the president-elect of the Optimist club.

Governor Encouraged

JEFFERSON CITY, March 29—(AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith indicated today passage of a Kansas City school levy had encouraged him about prospects of a four cent gasoline tax bill in next Tuesday's special statewide election.

"I feel very confident," he told his news conference after noting yesterday's big vote in Kansas City.

Court Decides Jurisdiction

JEFFERSON CITY, March 29.—(AP)—The Missouri supreme court today ordered the St. Louis circuit court records cleared of remarks made March 4 by Judge Harry F. Russell in a case involving General American Life Insurance company.

The supreme court said Judge Russell "undertook to declare a mistrial" and said he had no further jurisdiction in the case. He transferred it to Division 2 of the St. Louis circuit court, under Judge Edward M. Ruddy.

Earlier the supreme court court had appointed Frank W. Hayes of Sedalia a sspecial commissioner to review legal differences between the insurance firm and Judge Russell. Today the court said Hayes' services as commissioner were no longer needed since the case now is before Judge Ruddy.

The court awarded Hayes $500 for work he already has done.

Lions Host to BFA Members

The Sedalia Lions club is host tonight to about 75 members of the 1949 and 1950 Balanced Farming Association.

The dinner will be at the Hotel Bothwell and will start at seven o'clock. Professor C. R. Meeker, extension specialist in farm management at the University of Missouri College of Agriculture will be the speaker.

Members of these associations pay $75.00 per farm per year. Association funds are used to hire an associate county agent who spends his full time on the farms of association members. Assistance is given toward increasing net farm income by carrying out recommended good farming practices such as soil conservation and improved cropping, pasture and livestock systems.

Assistance is also available to aid in planning the remodeling and improving of the farm home.

A special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce was called this morning by Harold Seaberg, vice president of that organization, at which time it was decided that the Chamber of Commerce would sponsor a three-ring circus to be presented Wednesday, June 14, one day only, at the State Fair grounds. Seaberg presided at the meeting in the absence of Noel Tweet, president.

The Chamber of Commerce has contracted for afternoon and evening performances that day by a major, organized traveling circus, Mills Bros. Three Ring Circus,, menagerie and horse show combined. Ahrhart, Jr., general agent of the world's third largest circus and the largest under canvas that plays only under sponsorship of civic, service and charitable groups.

"The Mills Bros. circus comes highly recommended by groups which have presented it as their annual fund-raising project and the contract gives an opportunity to raise a considerable sum for the Sedalia Promotional fund," Mr. Hurlbut said. "Heaviest proceeds will come from advance ticket sales which will be launched shortly by C .of C. members.

"Details of a special campaign through which all needy youngsters of the area will attend the matinee free will be announced soon, together with names of our circus committeemen."

Ceremonial Cremation Fire Lighted

Over Remains of Boy King of Thailand, Killed 4 Years Ago

By Milton Marmor

BANGKOK, Thailand (Siam), March 29—(AP)—A ceremonial cremation fire was lighted over the remains of Thailand's slain boy King Ananda in a rite of medieval pomp and glitter.

The ceremonial fire later was extinguished. The actual cremation will come later tonight at a private ceremony.

The ceremonial fire was lighted by Ananda's brother, Phumiphon Aduldet, the new monarch of this oriental kingdom.

More than a half-million subjects of this color-drenched kingdom surged against police lines to gaze in somber silence at the ill-fated monarch's funeral march.

Ananda was slain mysteriously four years ago.

Multitudes waited throughout a star-filled night for a glimpse of the cremation ceremony. They wanted also to see their new king, Phumiphon Aduldet, student-brother of Ananda.

Priests Changed All Night

Priests changed all night in the temple where the golden urn containing Ananda's remains rested. Shortly after dawn the urn, covered with embroidered cloth, was placed on a three-axle caisson 40 feet high.

The procession was a brilliant pageant of color, streaked with black echoing the sadness of a nation.

Bearers of the royal regalia marched in a mournful dance, carrying the swords, parasol, royal fan and other paraphernalia of the late king.

Next came the one-faced bronze ceremonial drums, followed by 30 footmen pulling a carriage. Atop it sat the high Buddhist priest, his bare torso contrasting vividly with the multicolored dress of other marchers.

Then came the caisson, a nine-tiered silken umbrella protecting its burden.

Held Parasol Over King

Behind walked the 22 year old King Phumiphon, tall for a Siamese. Two pages kept pace, taking turns at holding a parasol over him.

The royal family walked behind the king. Then came top government officials and chiefs of diplomatic missions dressed in formal attire.

At the cremation enclosure, the urn was removed from the caisson and placed upon another. This caisson circled counter clockwise a 10-story edifice symbolizing the Olympian mount of the Buddhist belief.

A flute piped a weird strain. Slowly the golden urn, heavy with jewels, was raised by pulley to the top of the cremation edifice, shining like burnished gold against the backdrop of Bangkok's wondrous temples.

Then, slowly the silver screens were shut and the golden curtains drawn.

King Phumiphon was to return later to light symbolically the funeral pyre. But the actual cremation will come at night, with only the royal mourners looking on.

Throughout the four hour ceremony, cannon boomed, one each minute. Most of the huge crowd were dressed in mourning, with the women all in black. Children waved black balloons carrying Ananda's picture.

Californian Wants to Have Orange Rolling

COVINA, Calif., March 29—(AP)—Kermit Wilson wants to change an old White House tradition. He said he has sent this telegram to Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.):

"Respectfully request you intercede with president and suggest rolling of oranges on White House lawn this Easter instead of eggs. This would be in line with government's recommended crop rotation principles and obviously a fair deal for all. Also, it will help take spotlight off administration's embarrassing egg surplus. x x x."

Wilson is the owner of a 40-acre citrus grove.

Wilson could have saved himself some effort: the White House egg rollings were dropped during the war and haven't been revived yet.

Proposal for Junior C. of C.

Meeting Thursday Night by Group Of Young Men

An orientation meeting of a group of young men interested in the organization of a Junior Chamber of Commerce club here in Sedalia will be held in the board room of the Chamber of Commerce offices at 112 West Fourth street at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night.

The session will be attended by state officials, including the state president, James Kolb of Jefferson City. Kolb in informal interviews with about twenty of Sedalia's young business men recently urged them to attend this meeting and to bring all of their friends that could meet the age requirements of being between twenty-one and thirty-five years of age.

Kolb said that this organization should include young men from all walks of life. He said that young men from Sedalia's outlying areas and anyone who has not been contacted personally by him, but who are interested in the organization of such club, are welcome at this meeting.

Advantages to be Stressed

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is a supplementary educational organization wherein young men of a community may join together in a friendly spirit to inculcate a civic consciousness in its membership by means of active participation in constructive projects which will improve the community and the state and nation.

Advantages of Junior Chamber of Commerce membership will be discussed at this meeting as will the state, national and international affiliations. There are nearly 2,000 local organizations and these are in every state, in Alaska, Hawaii and in 35 foreign countries.. The total membership of the United States Junior Chamber is now more than 150,000.

Kolb said that the organization offers a young man the participation in community affairs that embody all the elements of successful business operation. In a booklet circulated here by the state office the Jaycee organization places a young man in the position where he can:

Receive a practice business education, without cost or risk to yourself.

Develop new friends—based upon common interest and respect.

Develop as a civic leader. You will become important in your community.

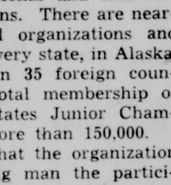

Help to make your community a better place in which to live today, tomorrow and in the future.

Establish a friendly contact with thousands of intelligent young men in hundreds of communities throughout the nation.

Provide for contact with young men in many foreign lands.

Increase your ability to speak and influence people. And to become a leader.

Atlantic Pact Machinery About to Roll

Designed For Peace, But Ready For War if Need be

By The Associated Press

Diplomats in London said today the Atlantic Pact machinery—designed for peace but ready for war if need be—is about to roll in high gear.

New western moves in the cold war with Russia will be charted by the foreign ministers of the Atlantic alliance countries in London called for May 8.

Britain's Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in announcing the date expressed belief that the growing power of the alliance will give the Soviet government no alternative but to negotiate with the west to settle grave problems dividing the world.

Bevin told parliament there is a growing desire among the 12 pact allies to deal with economic and political matters as well as mere territorial defense.

Finance Ministers Meet

In keeping with this the finance ministers of the 12 nations meet in London today to work out the financial problems of their common defense.

A committee of military chiefs of state yesterday at the Hague gave their unanimous approval to a masterplan in which each nation was assigned a specific role to play.

On Saturday the defense ministers of the alliance will also meet in the Hague to go over the plans of their military and economic advisers.

Claim Naval Victory

At Taipei, Formosa, Nationalist Chinese claimed a naval victory over the Communists. The Nationalists said their warships routed two fleets of 100 well-armed junks south of Shanghai. The warships sunk many junks and silenced Red shore batteries 22 miles from Shanghai, it was claimed.

Nationalist President Chiang Kai-Shek delivered a fiery speech denouncing Communism. He called upon Chinese youth "to assume a holy mission of crushing the Communist traitors, driving out the Russian aggressors, restoring the Chinese Republic and rescuing our compatriots on the mainland."

Order Expulsion of Newsman

The Communist-dominated Czechoslovak government has ordered the expulsion of the last American correspondent of the Associated Press left in Prague. Information Minister Vaclav Kopecky has hinted there may be further expulsions of the few remaining western correspondents.

A government official gave "unobjective reporting" as the reason for ordering AP's Nathan Polowetzky to leave the country by April 8. He had been the lone United States national representing the AP since chief of bureau Richard Kasischke was expelled last January with three other western correspondents. All the expelled newsmen had been charged with unobjective reporting. They denied it.

Carriers' Feud Results in Death of One

Ill Feeling Had Existed Between Boys For Months

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark., March 29—(AP)— A long-standing feud between rival teen-aged newspaper carriers resulted today in the death of one of them with a shotgun charge in the face.

Sheriff Guy Hickman said Pat Bowers, 14, shot Wayne Cothren, 15, from a few feet away when they met on a street in a residential section here after school yesterday afternoon.

Young Cothren died this morning.

The Bowers boy was held without charge.

Prosecutor Robert H. Williams said "some charge" would be filed.

Ill Feeling for Some Time

The prosecutor said ill feeling had existed between the boys for several months and that Cothren had beaten Bowers in fights.

Williams quoted Bowers as saying he had taken the shotgun to a grocery store yesterday morning and picked it up after school.

Apparently Cothren was advancing on Bowers when the latter fired the gun, the prosecutor said.

The right side of Cothren's face was shot away.

Williams said one other boy had witnessed the shooting, but the lad's name was not disclosed.

Son of Widow

Cothren was the son of Mrs. Izada Walker of Springfield, Mo. His father was dead and he lived

Passengers No Time To Jump

Lone Survivor of Embassy Plane Crash Talks To Reporters

OTTAWA, March 29—(AP)—The lone survivor of yesterday's plane crash which killed U. S. Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt and four other persons said today that flames enveloped the plane so swiftly no one else had time to bail out.

"Four of them had their parachutes on," M/Sgt. Gwynne A. Long of Vannoy, N. C., told reporters in a hospital bedside interview.

"I had told them to bail," Long said, "but something happened. They did not make it. There wasn't time."

Long said the flames broke out in the right wing of the twin-engined transport, and swiftly spread through the whole plane.

"The pilot, Lt. Col. Wayne Trueblood, had been holding her steady, so we could bail out," Long said. "We were getting ready to jump when the right wing blew and it spread to the inside of the plane. We were going down very fast all of a sudden. I figured we had six or seven seconds. I went ahead and bailed out from 600 to 800 feet up."

Started For Chute

"The Ambassador was sitting on the right side at the front," he continued. "He moved to the rear to get his chute on. If he hadn't he would have been burned."

Long said he hadn't the "vaguest idea" what caused the fire.

"I have no knowledge of sabotage," he said when asked if that could have been the cause.

The engine where the fire broke out had been working all right, he said, the the plane had been given a "very good" check before the take-off.

Long said it was the first time he had jumped. He said he landed heavily in the snow and twisted his leg.

RAMSALVILLE, Ont., March 29.—(AP)—The U.S. air force's top safety officer began an an investigation today into the explosion and crash of the U. S. embassy plane in which American ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt and four others were killed yesterday.

Maj. Gen. Victor E. Bertrandias, director of flying safety for the air force, took a leading role in the inquiry started by Canadian police and Royal Canadian air force officers shortly after the tragedy.

The chief witness is the sole survivor of the crash, M/Sgt. Gwynne A. Long, Vannoy, N. C., who parachuted from the flaming plane just before it blew up and plowed into a snow-covered field near here.

Got Panicky

Suffering from shock and leg injuries, Sgt. Long told investigators last night that all aboard the plane strapped on parachutes after the right engine caught fire, but that the other passengers "got panicky and would not bail out." Newsmen have not been permitted to question him at the hospital where he is confined.

Among the four other victims was Alan C. Harrington, 20, son of Julian Harrington, the U. S. minister to Ottawa.

Preliminary investigations tended to discount early rumors that the plane may have been sabotaged. The rumors started in view of the fact that the weather was clear and the light good.

The R.C.A.F. investigators said there was no indication of sabotage. They explained that a fire in the engine could have touched off an expuosion in the plane's wing gasoline tanks.

Prominent Boonville Woman Is Dead

BOONVILLE, Mo., March 29—(AP)—Mrs. H. C. Duncan, mother of former state senator C. S. Duncan of New Franklin, died here today.

She was the widow of H. C. Duncan, Boonville business man, and a great niece of General William Ashley, first lieutenant governor of Missouri.

Funeral services will be held here Sunday at the Christian church.

Fires Under Control

JEFFERSON CITY, March 29.—(AP)—Ozark forest fires were reported under control today, but watchfud foresters kept their fingers crossed.

They said the danger was not over because the old Ozark practice of "spring burning" was still going on.

Address by Wilbert C. Askew, Candidate for Mayor, Sedalia

Wilbert C. Askew, Democratic candidate for mayor, April 4, gave the following speech at a Democratic rally, attended by a large crowd in Jefferson school, Tuesday night:

"It is my privilege and pleasure to bring to you—before city election day—my sincere greetings, and a few facts, which cause me to desire to be elected, as your choice, to the office of mayor of our city, for the next term.

"I am not unmindful of the high honor I am asking. Neither am I without a due appreciation of the great responsibility involved.

Anyone, seeking to be your choice for this highest administrative office of our city, should have definite, satisfactory reasons for desiring the office. And, should also, have certain fundamental qualifications for performing the duties and the responsibilities involved. For instance, the modest salary that this office pays, would hardly, in itself be a sufficient reason for desiring the office. And—as to qualifications—the fact that one is an affable gentleman—belongs to "this" or "that" civic, social or other groups, even bears a reputation, above question, for integrity and fair-dealings—if I possessed all of these qualifications in abundant measure, it would hardly constitute a reason why you should give me your vote to place me in a highly specialized administrative office.

A Big Business

"Our city government is a big business enterprise—involving the receiving and expending of a vast sum of money—well over a half million dollars annually.

"Something much more important is also involved; namely, the health and happiness of twenty-five thousand citizens, as well as their economic, educational, cultural and social well-being.

"Anyone, who successfully administers a business of such magnitude, must be in addition much more than well-intentioned and honest. He must have business sense, and business experience to match his honesty and his good intentions. He must have upon his heart and his conscience, not just a job for himself, but a willingness to expend himself in discharging his responsibilities to twenty-five thousands of his fellow-citizens. At least, this is the way I look upon the matter of asking you to make me your choice as the next mayor of the city of Sedalia.

Spent Boyhood Near Sedalia

"Now, it has been said that I have been a resident of the city of Sedalia for only a comparatively short term of years. This is a true statement, But, this fact does not affect my qualifications. My boyhood was spent only forty miles from Sedalia. And, almost all my life has been spent in Central Missouri—except, for the time I served with the armed forces of

Large Crowd At Rally Held By Democrats

William F. Brown Chief Speaker—W. C. Askew Also Spoke

A large crowd attended a Democratic ward meeting held Tuesday night in Jefferson school, at which time W. C. Askew, candidate for mayor and William F. Brown, talked. Brown's talk in part follows:

"Sedalia is becoming more and more accepted as one of the most progressive cities of the midwest. This has been brought about because we have had progressive men managing the affairs of our city in recent years.

"In the main our city government recently has been composed of young or middle aged men, having a real and vital interest in the future welfare of this community; not only because of their business, employment or investment here, but also as a pleasant surrounding for their families. We certainly want to continue this progress and we definitely want to keep abreast of modern times. In order to do this it is extremely important that we select our representatives in our City Government with care and forethought. We must demand of those representatives a far-sighted long range view of our affairs. We must avoid the attitude of merely holding the pieces together and accepting no improvement or change.

Must Be Civic Minded

"The Democratic party of Sedalia invites you to compare our candidates with their opposition; to ascertain for yourselves whether or not the Democratic candidates are more capable, conscientious and progressive than their opposition. The office of mayor only pays a salary of $200 a month, which is insufficient to make it attractive from the standpoint of income alone. The real test of a public servant is his ability to honestly and adequately fill the office he holds and his interest in the office.

"In addition to this we must learn the motives behind his candidacy. Does he seek the office or does the office seek him? If he seeks the office, does he do so for personal gain or does he have some purely personal axe to grind? Without exception the Democratic candidates have been prevailed upon to be a candidate—because their friends and supporters honestly believed them to be the best qualified available person for the office and their service to this community will be made at some sacrifice to themselves. We have nominated men that have demonstrated their abilities by making a success of their occupation, business or profession.

"They have each proven, enumerable times, that they are civic minded and progressive; that they are vitally interested in the welfare of this city and are willing to make sacrifices themselves to help make this a better city. We owe it to ourselves to elect to office candidates in whom we place confidence, because of their knowledge in their proven performance; busy and successful men who are conscientious enough to realize that it is a civic duty to represent their city and are willing to become your servant and for that reason alone.

"Under this Democratic administration you were pledged certain badly needed improvements and those pledges have been kept. The present Democratic candidates pledge to you a continuation of progressive improvement for our city."

Dewey Guinn was the chairman and introduced the guest speaker and the Democratic candidates subject to the city election, April 4.

Refreshments of pie and coffee were served after the speaking program.

L. G. Bohon Struck by Hit And Run Driver

Louis G. Bohon, 69, was treated at the Bothwell hospital shortly before midnight for injuries received when struck by a hit and run driver, about one block south of his home on the Abell road, southeast of Sedalia. His injuries are not serious and he was released to return to his home.

He received a broken nose, cuts and cruises about his face. Dr. J. M. Rodeman treated Bohon at the hospital.

Mr. Bohon was taken to his home by David Bryant, who came by the place a few minutes later, and from there he was removed to the hospital by Bryant and Mr. Bohon's daughter.

CHURCH NEWS

The W. M. S. of the Flat Creek Baptist church met recently at the home of Mrs. O. F. Richardson.

The study lesson was given in the morning and after a school lunch at noon at which coffee was served by the hostesses, the afternoon was spent in quilting for the Ironton Home for the Aged. Thirteen members and one visitor were present.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Anderson, route 2, at which time the quilt will be finished and the lesson given.

our country during World War two. So, I am not unfamiliar with the needs and problems of this section of our country. And, I have lived in Sedalia long enough to love it—appreciate the opportunity it has given me—and to see some of its possibilities for the future.

"During the present administration, the money paid in taxes, yours and mine, has not been hoarded, but wisely spent in improving living conditions, expanding business opportunities, and furthering the health, safety, and general well-being of our people.

Accomplishments

During this period, we have had six hundred and forty blocks—or forty miles of our city streets resurfaced. This extensive street improvement project has been paid for, from the funds produced by our parking meters in the business district—our one-cent city tax on gasoline, and our city automobile "stickers." You will readily see that this street improvement has been done with no direct cost to the property owners.

"During this same period, some seven hundred metal street markers have been placed, giving the names of the streets at every intersection of our city. This has proved to be a great convenience for our own people, and also for visitors in Sedalia.

"Have you considered the amount of building, of every kind, which has taken place here, during the past four years? Nine hundred building permits have been issued—the cost of these buildings being in excess of five million dollars. Four hundred and eighty of these permits were for new homes. There must be something right about this town, when new industry and business, and also new citizens are thus attracted to Sedalia.

Recreation Facilities

When we desire a bit of pleasure or recreation, or a chance to eat a picnic lunch with a few, or even a large group of our friends, we almost instinctively say, "let's go to the park"—for we know, in our city, the distance to an attractive park is not great, and the expense will be small. But, do we always realize that it is the forethought of the city administration that provides these places for our convenience, when we feel the need of rest and relaxation? During the past four years, more than sixty-three thousand dollars has been spent improving these facilities. Land for two new parks has been purchased and added to our park system. Tree, flower and shrubbery plantings, grading, sodding, drinking fountains, improving drives, walks and lighting facilities—all these have added much to the health, happiness and well-being of our community.

Watched Progress

"I have watched the progress of Sedalia during the past four years, —and— if elected your mayor, it would be my sincere aim to go even further along the path so ably marked by the present administration. I have recited these accomplishments of the past for one purpose—it should cause us to have a wholesome civic pride in our beautiful city. It should cause us, also, to feel a deep civic responsibility to carry on faithfully in the future.

"I feel that the motive and the direction of Sedalia's city affairs have been right, and that an amazing degree of progress and success have been attained. If you honor me with this office, it is my plan and purpose to give my utmost effort to carry on this program of betterment, and, to improve it, as opportunity and occasion may arise.

"I have, personally, investigated the finances of our city, and it is my opinion that it will be unnecessary to raise taxes, unless, you desire and demand new services.

In Business Twelve Years

"For the past twelve years, I have been in business. These have been years of hard work, and, I believe, years in which I have increased my ability in managing business. I enjoy business administration, and, I think, that my record shows that I have been fairly successful at it. Any unprejudiced persons, who will take the time and trouble to investigate by business dealings and practices, will be convinced that, without exception, they have been conducted in a manner, of which no gentleman need be ashamed, and for which no apologies need be offered.

"It is my conviction, that business experience, business ability, and business integrity should be a matter, not of promise, but a matter of record. Mine is a matter of record. And, any voter, seeking to know the truth, is invited to study the record. And, further, if elected, I definitely intend to maintain regular hours each day in the mayor's office in the City Hall conducting city business.

"I would like to make, in conclusion, one further statement. I am not asking for a job—I have —one—one that I like. I am asking an opportunity to serve this community—the people to whom I feel I owe a debt of gratitude—and a civic obligation.

"If elected, I shall, to the best of my ability, faithfully discharge that debt, and that obligation."

Former Sedalian And Talking Bird Will be on The Air

A picture of Mrs. G. William Smith, 8415 Hillcrest road, Jackson county, the former Miss Helen Cooper, of this city, and her talking bird appeared in the Sunday edition of the Kansas City Star. Mrs. Smith and her eight-months-old parakeet will be heard on WDAF at 6:15 o'clock Wednesday evening and will also be on television.

Mrs. Smith is a niece of Mrs. J. D. Murphy and Miss Jennie Cooper, both of 1503 East Broadway, and was born and reared in Sedalia.

The parakeet, weighing only an ounce and a half, is a beautiful bird with turquoise breast and brown back and wings. It was given to Mr. and Mrs. Smith and began its talking by saying one word at a time, baby, boy, and finally his own name, Blue Boy. Then he began to put words together and make sentences. His vocabulary has grown to about 75 words, he knows the dog's name and frequently calls to him. He even repeats nursery rhymes, and knows completely the nursery rhyme: "Mary's Little Lamb." If in reciting his nursery rhymes Blue Boy happens to forget a word, he doesn't hesitate, he just puts in a word of his own and goes right on.

Sedalians in College Play

COLUMBIA, Mo.—"To Whom It May Concern," a complete 16 m. m. sound movie, produced written, cast and directed by members of a college group, is now being released for showings in Sedalia and throughout the state.

The film cast includes members of the Presbyterian Student Association of the University of Missouri as well as Stephens and Christian colleges. Presbyterian students from Sedalia are: William Chase Coplen, Robert S. Gardner, R. L. Riley, Emily E. Banning, Milfred E. Danley and Elizabeth Stafford.

To arrange for a free showing of the half-hour film, interested groups are invited to write to Rev. John Clayton, Presbyterian Student Association, 100 Hitt street, Columbia, Mo.

"To Whom It May Concern" is a message from the students to the people of the state, showing the extent and importance of religious youth work in Missouri's educational center.

However, a definite story with plenty of humorous by-play and even a romantic sub-plot make the film more than a mere document.

Mrs. Frazier McVean gave an impromptu description of some of the homes she visited in Natchez. The home she found most interesting was Rosalie House, which is now owned by the D.A.R. of Mississippi. It was named for Fort Rosalie, which was adjacent to it and has been restored as nearly as possible to its original state.

Mr. and Mrs. James K. Lacey, Jr., route 1, Smithton, were at home Sunday to a group of relatives and friends honoring Mrs. Lacey's mother, Mrs. Victoria North, who was celebrating her birthday anniversary. A dinner was served cafeteria style and two birthday cakes centered the table.

Those who attended were Mrs. North's sisters Mrs. Newton Allcorn and Mr. Allcorn, Miss Florence Parrish, all of Kansas City and her brother Mr. Lee Parrish, Mrs. Arthur Griffey, Miss Mamie McCormick and Mrs. Amanda Close of Sedalia and the honoree Mrs. Victoria North and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Lacey. Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Sullivan were afternoon visitors.

Secret of The Broken Faucet Leaks Out in The Social Set

LOS ANGELES, March 29—(AP)—This is the tale of the broken water faucet that leaked out some secrets of the international social set.

Cotton broker Joseph Wade sued Edward Hillman, Jr., and his wife, June, for $44,404 damages because of injuries received in 1946. Wade said he took a shower bath while guesting in the Hillmans' Beverly Hills home and the faucet broke off in his hand, cutting it severely.

Hillman is a member of a wealthy Chicago department store family. His wife is the former Lady Inverclyde, ex-wife of British nobility. The Inverclydes own the Cunard steamship lines.

In superior court testimony yesterday, the Hillmans said that Wade took his bath, not in the room assigned him, but in a shower that connected to the room occupied by the then Marquise de la Begassiere. The Hillmans also said Wade should have looked at the faucet.

Wade said he had permission to use that shower because his own was not working. Also, he testified, that he was an unwilling guest in the house because Mrs. Hillman had requested him to stay, saying she was afraid of Hillman.

Ex-Marquise Talks

Then the ex-Marquise took the stand. She is now Mrs. Preston Lewis of New York City. She said little about the faucet but testified that Mrs. Hillman asked her to "spy" on Hillman and another guest, known only as "Miss Baker." Mrs. Lewis called Hillman a "flirt."

"For me,' she said with a French accent, "it was ze very boring evening."

Wade also added, with no apparent connection to the broken faucet, that Hillman owed him $600 lost in a backgammon game.

Also that he likes to brush his teeth and shave while taking a shower.

Triplet Sons Born Within 22 Minutes

KANSAS CITY, March 29—(AP)—Triplet sons were born tonight to Mrs. Harold Wittkopp, 23, who moved here in November from Wahpeton, N. D. the father is employed here by General Motors.

The births occurred within 22 minutes at General hospital. Mrs. Wittkopp and the triplets are doing fine, the hospital said.

Woman Files For US Senate

JEFFERSON CITY, March 29—(AP)—A woman climbed into the Democratic primary ring Monday to face three male opponents for the U. S. senatorial nomination.

Mrs. Marjorie Bell Hinrichs, 49, of St. Louis filed late yesterday. She promised more than two months ago she would try Truman's home state.

Mrs. Hinrichs is the daughter of for the nomination in President who was a Democratic power in St. Louis half a century ago. She is a cosmetics manufacturer. All three of her opponents are lawyers. They are:

State Sen. Emery W. Allison of Rolla, President Truman's choice as the man to beat Republican Sen. Forrest C. Donnell next fall. Donnell has only nominal opposition in the OP primary.

Former congressman Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., of St. Louis, claiming a big bloc of Democratic support in St. Louis and some outstate areas.

Franklin E. Reagan of St. Louis also claiming strong backing. He was the first to file in the hottest contest of the coming primary election.

Former Dancer Asks Support

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., March 29—(AP)—A former Chicago hotel dancer has sued the fabulous Robert L. Knetzer, bankrupt car dealer, for support of herself and two children.

The suit of Mrs. Dorothy Kelch Knetzer, filed in circuit court here Monday, named Knetzer as the father of her two sons, aged one and two.

She says Knetzer married her at Stuttgart, Ark., in January, 1947, without letting her know he already had a legal wife.

Mrs. Dolores Choate Knetzer, wife No. 1, filed suit for divorce earlier this month charging Knetzer with adulterous conduct." This suit did not name a co-respondent.

Both cases are scheduled to come up in circuit court here April 17.

Mrs. Dorothy Knetzer said she did not know Knetzer had a wife living in Edwardsville until involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were opened against him in October, 1948. She said Knetzer had refused to support her and the children since last May and that they are "destitute and in dire want."

Your Budget, too, says

"WELCOME, SPRING!"

How about it—got that "new-car" fever?

Got a hankering to take hold of a brand-new wheel—touch off the power in a smooth, firm, lively new engine—set out to meet spring in fresh new styling and sparkling colors?

Got a suppressed desire to make it really something good this time—and step away in a Fireballing new Buick, with all its room and comfort and standout styling?

Well—why not?

You know there's no better buy you can make—and no wider choice than you're going to find among Buick's array of beauties for 1950.

You know there's no livelier action—no smoother ride—no roomier comfort for the money than you'll find right here.

And if you don't know it—we'd like to repeat this:

If you can afford a new car, you can afford a 1950 Buick.

The SPECIAL's prices start just above the lowest bracket. You can choose between thrifty standard-finish models—and de luxe versions a bit richer in trim and outside finish.

You can have a Coupe, two-door or four-door models—sleek-lined jetbacks or tourbacks with roomy luggage compartments.

You can dress them up, if you like, with a long list of added equipment—including 1950 Dynaflow Drive* for instance—or hold the list down to the essentials everyone wants.

And your budget is going to find continuing reason to be content that you blossomed out in a Buick.

For in the hands of owners, the SPECIAL is proving thrifty to run as well as thrifty to buy—and what more could you ask?

Which suggests—why not see your Buick dealer now and ask him the exact details and prices, trade-ins, delivery and terms?

Kansas City Votes Higher School Tax

KANSAS CITY, March 29—(AP)—A higher public school tax was approved Tuesday by Kansas City voters paving the way for a full 40 week term during the next two years.

With 408 polling places reported out of 412, the vote was 67,154 yes 29,402 no. The four outstanding polling places could not defeat the measure, which will raise the school tax 38 cents per $100 assesed property valuation. It has been $1 per $100.

The tally was well above the two thirds majority required to pass the higher levy.

If the measure had failed, Kansas City public schools faced being dropped from the accredited list by the North Central Association of colleges and secondary schools.

The school term this year ends April 28, six weeks short of the normal 40 week term, because of lack of funds.

The Kansas City Star and most civic and religious organizations conducted a campaign for the higher tax.

Contend One of Lines Solvent

ST. LOUIS, Mar. 29—(AP)—Objections to the plan or reorganization proposed by the Interstate Commerce Commission for the Missouri Pacific Railroad were raised Tuesday before Federal Judge G. H. Moore by John S. Elliott and the protective committee for the holders of the railroad's 5¼ per cent secured series gold bonds.

In their objections, Elliott and the committee joined forces to ask the court to discharge the New Orleans, Texas & Mexico Railway Company from the bankruptcy reorganizaztion proceedings. The groups argued that the N.O.T.&M. is solvent, that it has increased its revenues in its operations in Texas and the southwest by more than 48 per cent while its parent company, the Missouri Pacific, has experienced a 10 per cent decline in business in the southwest.

Carl H. McClure III of New York City, counsel for the protective committee, told Judge Moore that the two railroads are "going in different directions." He pointed out that there would be no disadvantage in putting the N.O.T.& M. back on its own feet except to the creditors of the parent company, who would lose the benefit of acquiring the subsidiary at a bargain.

The protective committee and the John Speed Elliott interests charge that Guy A. Thompson is acting as trustee for the N.O.T.& M. and for the M.P. had acted contrary to the best interest of the N.O.T.&M. and to the benefit of the M.P.

The plan is the third to come before the court in the 17 years the railroad has been in receivership. Thompson, an attorney, has been trustee in bankruptcy since 1933.

Mrs. Truman to Join President at Key West

Miss Margaret Truman will join her parents in Florida sometime during the coming weekend.

Given Sentences On Fraud Charges

OTTAWA, Kas., March 29—(AP)—Marshall J. Worthington unexpectedly pleaded guilty to part of criminal charges against him arising from collapse of his used car and trucking business in 1947.

Worthington admitted guilty to 13 counts of obtaining a total of about $80,000 by false pretenses from the Ottawa Finance Company. He also withdrew an appeal to the supreme court from conviction in January of obtaining $3,000 fradulently from the Peoples State Bank of Princeton.

District Judge Hugh Means passed three sentences of from one to five years each, two of the sentences to run concurrently.

County attorney Myron Steere dismissed four other cases pending against Worthington, also a perjury charge against his father, Harry Worthington.

The charge to which he pleaded guilty today was one on which he was tried a year ago, resulting in jury disagreement. Still pending against him is a civil suit brought by the Ottawa Finance for recovery of $70,000.

Worthington listed $360,000 liabilities and $210,000 assets when his business collapsed.

The grebe can fly through or under water as well as it can in the air.

WYCKOFF, N. J., March 29—(AP)—Postmaster Gilbert Morris applied to the Post Office Department last week for a mail truck and was assured that a new one would be delivered.

It's new to Wyckoff anyway.

Mackenzie's Column

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Dr. Konrad Adenauer, chancellor of the west German government, declares that "the temptation to make war is greater for Russia than is generally believed."

The chancellor maintains that peace can be secured "only if the Soviet leaders are convinced of the futility of conquering Europe." Therefore he feels the "time has come to act" in order to demonstrate the futility of preparedness.

One would find it hard to quarrel with the chancellor's assay of the situation. Russia has been building up her military strength in eastern Europe. She has consolidated her German zone of occupation, in which she not only maintains a great standing army but is creating a German military force.

Not Ready For War

Meantime western Europe, despite elaborate preparations for defense, isn't ready for a major war. And Adenauer points out that if western Europe were occupied by Russian armies "those who could contribute to the rebirth of a western democracy . . . would be liquidated."

If that is a correct estimate of the situation, then it is safe to assume that Russia must at least have given academic consideration to the general proposition. The idea of course would be to strike before the western nations were fully set for action.

So in theory, at least, the temptation for Russia to strike may be there. Of course it is precisely because of this that the military leaders of the 12 Atlantic treaty allies, including America's general Omar Bradley, are meeting this week at The Hague to consider regional defense plans. And linked in a general way was the meeting last week in Rome of America's six top European ambassadors to consider ways and means of countering Communism.

Might Strike Quick Blow

So the temptation might be there for Russia to strike a quick blow. However, Moscow certainly would find strong arguments against any such move.

Perhaps the greatest deterrent would be that Russia isn't yet prepared to compete with the United States in atomic warfare. Moreover, the conflict between Communism and democracy in Asia is still in its beginnings. One wouldn't expect Moscow to undertake a two-front shooting war at this juncture.

If Russia were in possession of all Germany, the story might be different. That would give Moscow the key position in continental Europe.

However, the only way the Muscovites could get possession at this juncture would be through a shooting war, which most observers feel the Soviet Union does not want. Therefore it is likely the Communists will confine themselves to fifth column assaults on western Germany. The current preparations for youth demonstrations are part of the fifth column offensive which daily gathers strength.

No Sweeping Change Expected

There's no reason to anticipate sweeping changes in the European situation pending further developments in the Asiatic theatre. As this coulmn has indicated previously, the balance of power in Asia will go far towards determining the conflict of the ideologies.

Still, as Chancellor Adenauer says, the temptation is there for Russia to make war in Europe. The answer to that is preparedness by the western allies.

As for the cold war, Canadian prime minister Louis St. Laurent summed the thing up neatly yesterday in a speech at Toronto. He said the cold war depends on a change in the attitude of Russia, which "is not going to come overnight," and may not come for a generation.

Drowns Baby In Bath Water

AKRON, O., March 29.—(AP)—An attractive, 19-year-old woman was held under guard in city hospital today, charged with drowning her baby.

Police Captain John F. Struzenski said the woman, Mrs. Angelo Rose Du Fala, had admitted holding the 11-day-old infant, Thomas, face downward in his bath water yesterday.

The police captain said he had not been able to determine a motive for the act. A psychiatrist was called in to examine the woman last night, but he reported she wass too agitated for immediate questioning.

Police said the woman's husband, Thomas R. Du Fala, a rubber company worker, reported he found her crying hysterically when he came home. He rushed the child to a hospital, but efforts to revive it failed.

The baby was the couple's only child. A first degree murder charge was placed against the woman after Coroner C. I. Martin reported the death a homicide.

Scout Training Saved a Life

PITTSBURGH, March 29—(AP)—"There was no place else with grass where we could play."

That's why the boys said they climbed a 10-foot wire fence into a Duquesne Light company substation lot in the west end.

Henry Leonhiser, 10, more daring than his pals, climbed 20 feet up on a steel framework supporting high tension cables.

Henry slipped, grasped a 11,000 volt live wire and fell back on a steel beam.

There was a blinding flash. Henry was flung out and down in a shower of sparks.

"He's dead!" cried the boys and scrambled over the fence for home.

Jimmy Connors, 13, stopped. He went back and beat out sparks in Henry's clothing. Then he lay down, cupped his mouth of his playmate's lips, and breathed hard.

"These were just things I remembered from my cub scout lessons," he said. Artificial respiration is recommended for victims of electric shock.

Attorney Gets $225,000 Fee

CHICAGO, March 29—(AP)—A Chicago attorney who won his client a $1,295,878 judgment against eight major film distributing companies today was awarded a fee of $225,000 by federal judge John P. Barnes.

The attorney, Thomas C. McConnell, represented the Towne theater, Milwaukee, Wis., in an anti-trust suit against the film distributors. The judgment was awarded Feb. 9.

The suit was based on charges that the film firms conspired to restrain trade in denying first run films to the Towne theater. The award was granted for damages allegedly suffered by the theater as a result of the alleged conspiracy.

McConnell said that under the law the defendants must pay his fee. They are Loew's Inc., Paramount Pictures, Inc., RKO, Twentieth Century Fox, Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., Warner Brothers Circuit Management Corp., Warner Brothers Theaters, Inc., and Columbia Theaters Corp.

Criminal Case Is Postponed

The criminal case of E. H. Schlotzhauer, Smithton and William Williams, rural route, Sedalia, charged with a statutory offense, which was set for Tuesday, April 4 at Marshall for trial, has been reset for Tuesday, May 2.

Resetting of the case resulted from a request of the defense attorney George H. Miller, who appealed to the court because of the city election being held April 4. Miller is city chairman of the Republican committee. Fred F. Wesner, also defense attorney, said he would be willing to try the case but felt it would take more than one day to hear all the evidence.

Prosecuting attorney William F. Brown vigorously opposed the continuance of the case as it has been on the docket for nearly a year.

Not Enough Time

Judge Dewey Thatch, Clinton, who had agreed to hear the case after a request was made by Judge Phil Cook, Marshall, who has been called to the Kansas City circuit on a mandate from the supreme court, said he would be unable to spend more than one day hearing the case. Judge Thatch explained the docket in his own circuit was such he would be unable to spend more than one day in Saline county at this time.

Judge Cook, when notified of the situation by Prosecuting attorney Brown said the docket in Saline county was such it could not be tried until May 2 and set case for trial on that date.

Sheriff John Taylor is endeavoring to notify all witnesses who have been subpoenaed of the change in date.

Two Damage Suits Filed

Two damage suits were filed in circuit court late Tuesday evening totalling $35,000 against Dr. Gulph W. Grove of Knob Noster as a result of an accident which occurred about eight miles west of Sedalia on Highway 50, September 12, 1949. The suits were brought by Ruth Hicks, Versailles, for $25,000 and Carl A. A. Engwall, Versailles, for $10,000.

The petition of Miss Hicks is for injuries she alleges she received while riding in a car driven by Engwall, which figured in a collision with a car driven by Dr. Grove. Miss Hicks was a patient in the Bothwell hospital for several weeks following the accident.

Dr. Grove was also slightly injured in the accident and was hospitalized for a time at the Bothwell.

Engwall's petition is also for injuries received in the accident.

The plaintiffs are represented by Popham, Thompson, Popham, Mandel land Trusty, of Kansas City.

Republican Criticism

Republican critics said the president was operating on the assumption that the committee would make public the FBI records, or part of them. These Republicans said there was no intention to take any such action.

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), a member o fthe subcommittee, said he can't see how the committee members will be able to pass on the validity of the McCarthy charges unless they can look at the records themselves.

Senator Brewster (R-Me) said the president's refusal of the file "is based on a lack of confidence in congress."

"The courts must determine whether such a refusal is justified under the constitution," he declared. "The power of the executive to defy congress in matters of personnel may well determine the control of the government."

Mr. Truman cited precedents for his refusal to open the files. Tydings and other Democrats said they have no doubt the courts will uphold the president's authority in such cases.

LONGVIEW, Wash., March 29.—(AP)—Fourteen-year-old Richard Dix, Jr., son of the late movie star, was headed back to Los Angeles today, after an interrupted excursion "to see how the other half lives."

Police Sgt. Ralph Benefiel said the boy told officers here he left school because he was "tired of being a rich man's son."

The youngster was picked up with a 16-year-old companion, William Sturdevant, of Portland, Ore., yesterday because officers thought they looked too young to be driving. They were in a car registered to Mrs. Dix.

The two youngsters said they were headed for Ilmaco, a Washington coastal town, where the younger boy said he planned to enter school, get a job and be on his own.

Neither boy had any money when stopped. They had a credit card for gasoline and told Benefield they had sold a portable radio for $12 to pay for meals.

Chop Quarter Billion Out Of Foreign Aid

House Slash Led by Republicans As to Spending

By W. H. Mobley

WASHINGTON, March 28—(AP)—House advocates of cuts in foreign spending succeeded Tuesday in chopping $250,000,000 out of Marshall Plan funds for the year beginning next July 1.

Shortly afterward, a group of farm legislators got enough support to take out of the foreign aid bill a provision substituting $1,000,000,000 worth of government-owned surplus food for that amount of European recovery cash.

The net effect was to make the European section of the aid bill a $2,700,000,000 cash allotment, down a quarter of a billion from what President Truman wanted.

The cut-foreign-spending forces, led by Republicans, failed earlier in an attempt to reduce the appropriation by $500,000,000.

Tomorrow much the same forces that knocked out the surplus-substitute provisions will try to tie up the cash for open market purchase of the same sort of surplus commodities that would have been obtained from government stocks under the bill's original language.

Take Up Amendments

Voting on amendments got underway after several Republican representatives called for reductions. They argued that too much spending abroad weakens this country and may even smooth the path of Russian aggression.

The administration hit back with the contention that Russia will never set an hour for an attack on the U. S. "If we do the thing we ought to do in our self-interest." Democratic leader McCormick (Mass) made that reply for the Truman forces.

Rep. Hope (R-Kas), ranking GOP member of the agriculture committee, joined in the attack on the surplus-substitute provision. He said it goes "counter to the agricultural program" and against the ECA policy of operating through trade channels.

Before the votes on reductions, the House Republican policy committee agreed anew to work for cuts, but Rep. Martin (R-Mass), the party leader, said the group did not settle on a specific amount.

Rep. Short (R-Mo) led off the GOP attack in the house with the statement that he wonders sometimes if by spending so many millions abroad we are not "playing into the hands of Russia."

Senators Vote Today on Natural Gas Bill

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, March 29 — The natural gas industry's smoothest salesman will learn today whether he has made his biggest sale.

He is amiable, persuasive Sen. Bob Kerr, Oklahoma Democrat, who has been trying to sell the Senate on exempting natural gas producers from federal regulation. For three weeks he has been shuffling from senator to senator, haranguing, cajoling, pumping them full of sales talk. This afternoon they will give their answer in a roll-call vote.

Already a millionaire oilman, Kerr has a financial stake in his own salesmanship. During most of his one year in the senate, Kerr's voting record has been for the public interest. But in the gas bill, his gain would be the public's loss, for the consumers must eventually pay any resulting increase in the cost of gas. Certainly the reason the natural gas companies want to escape federal regulation isn't to reduce prices.

Whatever the outcome, the senator from Oklahoma has set a record in senatorial salesmanship. He nursed his bill every step of the way, fighting for it comma by comma in the senate and even turning his homey charm on President Truman to get a White House endorsement.

On the senate floor, Kerr set up a wall of billboard-size charts and graphs, portraying the natural gas industry from every statistical view. With this as a backstop, he ambled up and down the senate chamber, haggling with opponents face to face, gesturing under their noses, pleading in whispers with the nearest senator when someone else had the floor.

Kerr Oversells

At times, Kerr's informal manner and easy drawl gave the senate the atmosphere of an Oklahoma town meeting. But of late, his persistency has got under senatorial skins. Kerr has made the mistake of over selling. Twice in one day senate majority leader Scott Lucas politely called him down for wandering away from his seat and sitting almost under the nose of the senator who was speaking.

When Kerr kept this up the next day, Missouri's senator Forrest Donnell broke in impatiently: "Mr. President, I make the point of order which was made twice yesterday against the senator from Oklahoma. Under the rules of the senate, senators are supposed to be at their seats when they speak."

As the debate wore on, Kerr challenged everyone who took the floor against him. He kept interrupting Missouri's senator James Kem, for example, until the irritated Kem retorted:

"I shall answer any questions the senator puts to me in my own way, in my own words, in my own time and at such length as I see fit."

"If the senator cares to indulge in personal remarks, that's all right," shrugged Kerr.

"If the senator wants to indulge in personalities, let the bars go down," snapped Kem.

They glowered at each other for a moment, then fell back to the polite, formal language of the senate.

Charm Peddler

At another point, Kerr suggested that Sen. Paul Douglas' arguments "would cause the junior senator from Illinois to become a joint author of the bill."

"God deliver us from that!" cried Douglas.

"I am sure that he will — tour mutual gratification," bristled the senator from Oklahoma.

"I should like to be with the Lord, and I should like to be with the junior senator from Oklahoma," smiled Douglas, "but not on this particular question."

Between spurts of fire, the debate was dull and technical. Kerr was assisted principally by Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas who also flitted from senator to senator, turning on the charm when arguments failed.

It will be interesting to see how much the charm of two freshmen senators will cost the nation's natural gas consumers.

Note — Since this column has been critical of Senator Kerr, it is only fair to report his criticism of me. Here it is: "And then there is good, old Drew Pearson — good, old Drew," said Kerr in the middle of his main speech. "No wonder American Broadcasting Company puts Airwick on the air for 15 minutes after he gets through. Boy, oh boy, do they need it."

Merry-Go-Round

The reserve officers association knows how to keep sweet with the administration. It dedicated its new song to Harry Truman, with special credit to Harry Vaughan. . . . Florida is a long way from Washington State. But George Fuller, the west coast lumber lobbyist, intervened in Florida politicos recently — against Sen. Claude Pepper. This ties in with heavy GOP interest in backing Rep. George Smathers against Pepper in the Florida primary. The young Republican committee of Volusia county, Florida, has now come out in the open in support of Smathers. . . . An uncle of congressman Hugo Sims claims he watched a flying saucer for 15 minutes in South Carolina. This report brought congress' leading scholar on flying saucers, Andy Jacobs of Indiana, hotfooting it to Sims' office for a detailed account. . . . Administration leaders are worried about another open break between northern big-city Democrats and southern farm Democrats as a result of the Dixiecrat-GOP coalition which wrecked the middle-income housing program. Some northern Democrats are so furious that they are planning to hit back at the Dixiecrats with a coalition in reverse — teaming up with Republicans against every southern farm bill. . . . Secretary of State Dean Acheson is getting another bombardment from Capitol Hill this week. More than 25 house members, led by Rep. Anthony Tauriello of New York, will register a vigorous protest with the state department against British arms sales to Arab tribes warring on Israel. Acheson is now intervening with the British and it looks as if Arab arms shipments would stop.

June Job Openings

The college senior on the prowl for a job next June would do well to consider school teaching. This advice is made by labor department experts after a study of job openings.

This study, engineered by Bill Batt, Jr., secretary Tobin's hustling economic consultannt, indicates there will be more college graduates than jobs next June. For example, 169 companies that hired 7,300 college graduates last year are looking for only 5,600 this year.

The tightest fields with more graduates than job openings are chemistry, journalism, law, personnel work, pharmacy, and for a few years at least, engineering. In the latter field there are 47,000 graduates for 20,000 openings.

The best chances are in school teaching, where there is a need for 75,000 new teachers and a supply of only 25,000 applicants; also in medicine, dentistry, nursing and social workers.

Tired of 'Red Menace' Talk? Remember Obscure Refugee

By Bruce Biossat

Out in the little town of Cushing, Okla., a man hanged himself in a garage the other day. But this was no ordinary case of a man despondent over ill health, marital or financial troubles.

This man, a 37-year-old Russian immigrant named Jackin Saij, killed himself out of fear. Not sensible, justifiable fear but an unreasoning terror burned into his brain from years of living in a Europe under the shadow of totalitarianism.

It was as if a police state had somehow reached out to crush this frightened refugee even after he had found his way to apparent safety in the expansive freedom of America.

To understand how it could happen you have to know something of Saij's background. He had spent eight years in German prisoner-of-war and displaced person camps. He was thoroughly distrustful of police and probably of public authority generally.

Under this country's DP program, an Oklahoman brought Saij and his wife to Cushing to work as servants. After a while the Russian became interested in listening to radio newscasts to "learn the truth."

The tragic finish of his grim existence was touched off by broadcasts of the Coplon-Gubitchev spy trial. Following it eagerly, Saij thought he heard his own name mentioned several times. He was mistaken, of course. Newscasters were using the word "spy," but in his fear-struck mind it registered as "Sigh," which is how his name is pronounced.

Not stopping to reason that no one in America could possibly want to bother him seriously, accustomed only to the arrogant brutalities of an all-powerful police, Saij concluded he was marked for arrest and perhaps death. So he hanged himself.

When his wife heard what he had done, she showed by her reaction that she, too, is still in the grip of terror.

She asked that her husband have a decent burial. "Please don't throw him naked into a trench," she begged.

Stories like this do not need to be embellished with generalities about their meaning. Their meaning is self-evident.

When you feel weighted down by the strains of the cold war and are sick of hearing about the "Communist menace," remember Jackin Saij. His story ought to be a sure cure for flagging resistance.

Subversion is Not a Civil Right

There should be little quarrel with the U. S. Court of Appeals' decision declaring the government's loyalty program constitutional.

A lot of confused thinking has become entangled with the arguments over this program. Much of it comes from well-meaning individuals who are sincerely concerned about guarding civil liberties.

But the basic fact to remember is that an American's civil rights do not include any absolute right to work for the government regardless of his personal political views.

Free speech, the right of dissent and all that have nothing to do with the issue. These are privileges that do not extend in their fullest sense to individuals who choose to work for the government.

A government has the right to command the fundamental loyalty of its employes. How could it function were it to be manned by persons bent on subverting it?

Make Your Bids, Gentlemen

We're happy to note that Queen Mary, Britain's queen mother, has now done her bit to close Britain's troublesome "dollar gap." She has woven an elaborate rug, which has just arrived in New York and will be exhibited in cities throughout America.

The British government of course wants to sell the rug and it has advised us how to enter any purchase bids we may wish to make. They are to be sent to the governor of the Bank of England, in envelopes bearing the simple natation: "Queen Mary's Rug."

No boxtops from English cookie packages need be included. But be careful that you don't write: Queen Mary, Rugs. She's not in the business permanently, even though this one took her eight years.

• So They Say

The idea seems increasingly prevalent in industrial and financial circles that our great industrial unions should be attacked and crippled, one by one. This idea should be knocked in the head.

—John L. Lewis.

GETTING RID OF FEARS BY TASKS

Now that you have turned over your fears and anxieties to God and have left them there, take the next step. (11) Deliberately take on yourself some task to help others. You have turned over your fears and anxieties to God, not to become a vacuum, but to have a heart that now has room and inward leisure for other people's troubles. Dr. Woodall tells of a woman who was an invalid with high blood pressure and other ailments. She was always thinking about herself and rarely ever talked of any subject other than her disease; she lay in bed and performed no household duties. Her husband was suddenly taken very ill and seemed to be on the point of death. Aroused by this danger, she got out of bed and helped to nurse her husband back to health. When she forgot her own ailments in her endeavor to help him, she herself got well. Health will come only in healthy activity.

John Wesley speaks of living "with a slack rein." That was true of him—he knew how to relax; but when he worked, how he did work! The slack rein was in order to have a tighter rein.

A watchmaker told a friend, in reply to his question as to why he kept his watches and clocks always running: "In order that they may be kept in better condition." You and I are made for constructive activity, and health will come to us as a by-product. Don't sit and talk about your ailments, or you'll have more and more to talk about. We are told that frogs will not croak in running water—only stagnant water. You will become a croaker if your life is stagnant. Get into the stream of helpful activity and you'll cease croaking, and in the end you'll "croak" before your time!

You must learn to be passive before God and active before men. Take in from God as you live in the passive voice; then give out to others as you live in the active voice. These are the two heartbeats of your life: passive, active. You submit to God, but you don't submit to anything else. Then you are creative and masterful.

O God, Thou art healing me in order to make me a center of healing. This precious gift I hold within my hand, not to gaze at in joyful reverence, but to pass it on. Freely I have received; help me freely to give. In Jesus' name. Amen.

The Doctor Says—

Electric Needle is Only Safe Way to Remove Excess Hair

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Excessive hair on the face, arms or legs worries a great many women. Although not dangerous to life or health, it does cause a great deal of mental suffering.

Why some women have more hair than others is not clearly understood but it certainly happens. Excessive hairiness is caused by disease only rarely. In such cases there is a clue in the fact that hairiness has not always been present.

If the hair starts growing rapidly, careful physical examination and diagnostic studies should be made. In the vast majority, the hairiness of the face or arms is unexplained except that some inherited factor from one or the other parent may have something to do with it.

There are several ways of attacking this problem. The hair can be saved. This is satisfactory for a short time but generally results in a gradual thickening of the hair and its even more conspicuous appearance as time goes on. The hair can be bleached or dyed but it often continues to grow out, so this has to be repeated frequently.

The hair may be taken off with hair removers which generally consist of some kind of wax which fastens to the hairs and pulls them out by the roots. This is painful and, of course, the hair will grow again. It is not particularly soothing to the skin either!

There are "stones" available which may be used to wear off the hair by friction. This must be frequently repeated and may irritate the skin as well.

Most doctors believe that there is only one safe method of permanent removal of excessive hair. That is treating the roots of the hair by electric needle. It is painful, rather expensive, and takes a lot of time. It is used frequently, however, especially for hair on the face.

X-Rays Dangerous

Another method of removing the hair has been tried in many parts of the country. This is the use of X-rays—a dangerous method. A number of cases of severe burns caused by X-Rays used for excessive hair have been reported. Recently one person complained of severe burns on the arms and legs resulting from X-ray treatments taken over a four-year period of removal of hair—but the hair was not even removed.

The only safe and permanent treatment at present seems to be the lengthy, time-consuming, and painful one of the electric needle. A better method would be helpful, but until it is developed, it is important to avoid unnecessary risks.

FINGERPRINTS Don't Lie

By Rupert Hughes

Copyright 1950 by Rupert Hughes
Dist. by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Private detective Martin Queripel is trying to clear Paul Moody, a young sculptor, of charges in the murder of Wendell Palmer, father of Moody's fiancee Azalea Palmer. Fingerprints on the base of a telephone used to bludgeon Palmer to death were believed to be Moody's until Queripel shown police detective James Stivers that Moody's had been substituted for those of the real murderer during the police investigation of the crime. Queripel and Stivers now have gone to Palmer's home to make a further check. Queripel is certain that the real murderer is Pete Kelso, another police detective.

• • •

POLICE DETECTIVE STIVERS still couldn't see what had happened to the fingerprints he had taken from the telephone base and Martin Queripel began to straighten him out. He pointed to those marked "telephone base."

"Somebody lifted your labels from the telephone prints and stole the original fingerprints. Then he pasted your labels on the tapes you lifted from one of Paul Moody's bronze statues," Queripel explained.

"Who on earth could have done it?"

"Don't ask me. Tell me," Queripel demanded. "Who was with you at the Palmer home? Who was with you at the Moody studio?"

"Only Pete Kelso. But—"

"Was he ever alone with the prints?"

"No-o-o—yes! I went upstairs to Moody's living quarters and worked there awhile. I left Kelso downstairs in the studio with my kit. But what reason would Pete Kelso have for changing the prints?"

Queripel let him have it. "What reason would any murderer have for stealing the prints that proved his guilt?"

Stivers gaped like a man hit in the midriff. As soon as he could catch his breath he gasped:

"Good Lord, Queripel, you don't mean to say that Kelso — that Kelso—killed Wendell Palmer?"

"Somebody crushed Palmer's skull with the bloody base of that telephone. The man who did it left his fingerprints on the felt base. Your prints eliminate Moody so far as his ever wielding that telephone base as a weapon. But somebody did. The weapon did not kill alone."

Stivers groaned as Queripel went on:

"Cheer up, man. You did your work perfectly. But you couldn't be expected to distrust another member of the police force. Yet it's the old Latin saying all over again. 'Who will guard the guards?' We have guardians, and most of them are willing to risk death at heir task. But you can't guarantee that all of them will or that all of them are honest. The very honesty of the honest ones works to protect the crookedness of the crooks."

From his utter misery Stivers spoke:

"You're accusing Kelso of murder and of destroying the evidence against him. That's a pretty serious charge, Queripel. You haven't an iota of evidence against him."

"That's all too true," said Queripel. "You've got to start all over and get it."

"But how? Where?"

"I'll admit the trail is pretty cold by now. Kelso probably destroyed the prints you took from the telephone, if my theory is correct," said Queripel. "But when you collected your specimens from the Palmer home, did you take any from the back doors or window sills or other places the killer might have entered?"

• • •

STIVERS sighed. "Of course not," he said. "I suppose you'll think I'm a poor cop. But the case seemed open-and-shut against Moody. He had been seen going in the front door shortly before the discovery of the crime. Kelso brought in the names and addresses of several people who had seen him enter."

"Kelso! Kelso!" snapped Queripel. But he didn't condemn Stivers as a "poor cop." Queripel himself, from the newspaper accounts, had at first believed in Moody's guilt. Who would doubt the evidence of fingerprints? "But," Queripel went on, "the killer might well have slipped in the house by the back way, or come through the cellar door, or climbed over a window sill. You naturally assumed he came in the front door. But assuming is dangerous."

Poor Stivers nodded and tossed his hands in helplessness. His pride had suffered in his fall. Queripel revived him with a word:

"What would you say to our going out to the Palmer place and giving it a real going-over?"

• • •

DETECTIVE JAMES STIVERS leaped to his feet with a renewal of life and hope and self-respect. From his chief he quickly obtained permission to complete the checking of the Palmer home for prints.

Indeed, Stivers was furnished with a key to the front door, since the house had been locked up and more or less sealed after the first debris of the murder had been removed. Azalea Palmer had been taken away from the grewsome emptiness by her friend Nadine Fennell and was now living with Nadine's parents in their apartment.

Because there was no police car available, Queripel took Stivers in his own machine. They parked the car at a distance from the house.

It was Martin Queripel's first visit and the huge Palmer home seemed to him to be something like a mausoleum when he first walked into it.

But Queripel brushed aside this feeling and in another moment he was a detective again.

Career Women Who Marry Often Miss Lost Individuality

Here's a letter that might help any number of husbands to understand their wives better.

At the time of my marriage five years ago I had an interesting job and many friends in the business world.

"I quit the job of my own free will because it didn't mean as much to me as my marriage, my home, and my husband's career.

"I never dreamed how much I would miss that job. Not only the work itself, which was a daily challenge, but the business friends, the feeling of belonging in a special place, and most of all the satisfaction of being somebody in myown right.

"Don't misunderstand me. I am not feeling sorry for myself nor do I think I made a wrong decision when I gave up a career for marriage.

"All I am trying to say is that it isn't as easy as you think it is going to be. And trying to shift your interest to your husband's career isn't as simple as it sounds —at least it hasn't been for me. My husband actually tells me so little about his work I can't feel that it is any real concern of mine."

They Feel Frustrated

That letter, I think, states pretty clearly the sense of loss and frustration a lot of working girls experience when they give up a career for marriage.

It isn't that they regret the decision or think for one moment that they would have been happier with a career and no husband than with a husband and no career. It is just that having once known what it was to be somebody in their own right, it is sometimes a little lonely and rather hard on the ego to try to get the same satisfaction out of someone else's career.

Theatre Men Pleased With Movies Coming

Sedalia Operators Have Attended Regional Meeting

An aggressive program to inform the public of the outstanding motion pictures coming from Hollywood to the nation's theatres has been announced jointly by Joe Ruddick and J. T. Ghosen, Sedalia theatre operators following their return from a regional conference of more than two hundred motion picture exhibitors held recently in Kansas City under the sponsorship of 20th Century-Fox.

The local exhibitors revealed that this program is directly based on the Calibre of the films scheduled for the current season which will satisfy the needs of the public in their demands for even finer film entertainment. They reported that the main points of the program discussed at the conference were:

1. Constant striving for better pictures through better subject material.

2. Getting honest information to patrons about these films in advance so they can plan their amusement budgets.

3. Promotion of public service methods wherein the theatre can best serve the community in which it is situated.

Upsurge in Production

In connection with the first point, the theatre men observed that the year 1950 will see a tremendous upsurge in the production of unusually important motion pictures and stated, "Never has Hollywood provided so much for such a small part of the public's entertainment dollar. Capital investment of the studios is almost three billion dollars to annual payrolls of $706,000,000. This tremendous effort, backed by $66,000,000 a year for advertising filters into every community including our own. As a source of income, tax-wise, both municipal and federal, motion picture theatres in Sedalia provide thousands of dollars yearly for the support of government. In dollars and cents, as well as in the amount of pleasure offered for our citizens, this vast industry is marshalling its forces to present its most significant contribution in the many years it has been in existence.

Shows Coming

"For example, in the next few weeks to come, the Fox, Uptown and Liberty theatres will show:

"Mrs. Mike" from the celebrated northwest woods story, starring Dick Powell and Evelyn Keyes.

"Cheaper by the Dozen," technicolor version of the best-seller with Clifton Webb, Myrna Loy, Jeanne Crain.

"Twelve O'Clock High," absorbing air drama starring Gregory Peck and Academy Award winner Dean Jagger.

"Mother Didn't Tell Me," sprightly domestic comedy featuring Dorothy McGuire and William Lundigan.

"Riding High," new Bing Crosby story with an all-star cast.

"Nancy Goes to Rio," musical in technicolor, with Ann Southern and Jane Powell.

"Key to the City," starring Clark Gable and Loretta Young in a romantic comedy.

"Cinderella," Walt Disney's captivating technicolor version of the all-time favorite.

"Francis," the hilarious tale of the talking army mule (from Missouri).

"Christopher Columbus," technicolor picturization of one of history's most fascinating adventures, starring Frederic March in the title role.

All the King's Men, Flamingo road, Night Unto Night, The Younger Brothers, Colorado Territory, The Fountain Head, Girl From Jones Beach, Look for the Silver Lining," "White Heat," "Task Force," "Beyond the Forest," "Always Leave Them Laughing," The Inspector General, Montana, Backfire, Holiday in Havana, Tokyo Joe, And Baby Makes Three, Tell It to the Judge, Traveling Saleswoman, The Nevadan.

Virtually all of these will be seen by Sedalia audiences between Easter week and Decoration Day week and advance production schedules indicate that there will be no letdown on through the summer months.

"We have always been completely convinced that the motion picture patrons get more for their money in entertainment and inspiration than is the case in any other amusement field and did not have to attend a meeting anywhere to acquire our conviction that motion pictures have done as much, if not more, than any other agency through the years in enlightening and and inspiring the world to better things. This is in the record, in war and peace.

"We did find an enthusiasm and understanding among all branches of the film industry which must inevitably result in finer motion pictures for the American family. The results will be forthcoming on our theater screens to everyone's satisfaction."

City College Wins 71 to 68 Over Bradley

First Cage Team To Take Two Big Events In One Year

NEW YORK, March 29—(AP)—City College of New York registered an unprecedented grand slam in college basketball last night, defeating Bradley 71-68 in finals of the NCAA tournament at Madsion Square Garden. Thus CCNY, which had beaten Bradley, 69-61, in the National Invitation tourney March 18, became the first team to win both major events the same year.

The game was a slam-bang thriller right down to the final buzzer, when it looked like Bradley might pull the game out of the fire.

City was ahead, 69-64, with less than a minute to go when little Gene Melchiorre came through with two rapid-fire, driving lay-ups and the Braves were trailing by only one point.

Then Norm Mager took a long pass, drove under the basket and sank the clincher seconds before the end.

CCNY, the darkhorse of two tournaments, was almost entirely over-looked before the National invitation. Bradley, rated the nation's No. 1 team, was the team to beat.

North Carolina Third

North Carolina State won third place in the NCAA basketball championships by defeating Baylor, 53-41, in a dull consolation game at Madison Square Garden.

A Rundown Of Cardinal Pitchers

All Seven Are Not Ready to Pitch Their Best

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 29—(AP)—With four weeks of training behind them the St. Louis Cardinals haven't come up with a starting pitcher who has shown he is ready to pitch his best.

Their humiliating 21 to 6 defeat by the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday was an example, but by no means the only one.

Four hurlers gave up 15 hits and 15 bases on balls in that contest. Ken Johnson was the starter. Reliefers Erv Dusak, Bill Reeder and Jim Hearn also gave up runs.

Some members of the staff lack control, some haven't toughened muscles to the point where they can break a curve and some have a pain or ache that prevents them from putting all they have on their pitches.

Taking the staff alphabetically a rundown shows:

Al Brazle has a sore muscle just below the shoulder and has not been able to pitch in exhibitions.

Harry Brecheen is developing sharpness, but he's far from the control that made him a great pitcher.

Max Lanier is far from ready in all departments. He was pounded in his last appearance.

George Munger is throwing hard but in Monday's game against the New York Yankees he gave 11 hits in five innings, including a home run and triple.

Howard Pollet's arm seems to be all right, but he hasn't been able to put the ball where he wants it.

Gerald Staley seemed to be ahead of the other men on the staff, but in his last start the Cincinnati Reds pounded him for seven hits and five runs in four innings.

Ted Wilks, No. 1 relief man, hasn't been able to throw curves. Manager Eddie Dyer suggested he has been working too hard and needed more rest.

It all boils down to the fact that if the season were to open today Manager Eddie Dyer would not have a pitcher in whom he could have complete confidence.

Star Hockey Player Underwent Surgery

DETROIT, March 29—(AP)—Star wingman Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings was believed out of danger today after undergoing early morning brain surgery to relieve an injury suffered in a Stanley Cup hockey playoff game here last night.

The injury to Howe overshadowed the initial game in the semi-final round of the Stanley Cup championship, generally known as hockey's world series. The Toronto Maple Leafs won 5-0 in a one-sided contest launching a best of seven series.

By winning, the Leafs successfully opened their bid for their fourth straight Stanley Cup. It marked the 12th consecutive time they had beaten the National Hockey league champion Detroiters in a playoff game.

Training Camp Briefs Of The Big Leagues

By The Associated Press

SARASOTA, Fla., March 29—(AP)—With Johnny Mize and Tommy Henrich hobbled with injuries, Joe Collins is making a determined bid to win himself a first base berth with the New York Yankees.

Collins, who hit .319 with Kansas City of the American Association last season, has been one of the leading hitters in the world champions' camp this spring. The six-foot lefthander garnered half of the Yanks' hits—a single and double — yesterday in their 9-5 loss to the Boston Braves.

Made Fine Showing On The Mound

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 29 — (AP) — Monte Kennedy, who has been one of the New York Giants' inferior pitchers this spring, sprang a surprise on Manager Leo Durocher yesterday.

Durocher called on the Virginia lefthander to start against the Cleveland Indians. And Monte surprised everybody by becoming the first hurler on the staff to go seven innings. He held the Indians to three hits and left with a 2-1 lead. Cleveland rallied to win, 4-2.

Boston Red Sox Face N. Y. Yankees

SARASOTA, Fla., March 29—(AP)—Manager Joe McCarthy expects to field his regular lineup for the first time this season as the Boston Red Sox meet the World Champion New York Yankees today at Payne Field in the fourth spring exhibition game between the teams. Johnny Pesky has recovered from pulled leg muscle and will be at third base.

Braves Play Host To Cincinnati Reds

BRADENTON, Fla., March 29—(AP) — Apparently clicking on all cylinders, the Boston Braves play host to the Cincinnati Reds today with Normie Roy and Bobby Hogue listed for mound duty. Defeating the world champion New York Yankees, 9-5, yesterday for their fourth victory in the last five starts, manager Billy Southworth is confident they will continue their winning ways. Veteran outfielder Tommy Holmes, who may start the season in center field in place of Rookie Sam Jethroe who has thus far failed to live up to expectations, banged out a single yesterday pinch-hitting for Warren Spahn.

Zoldak Limited Team To 2 Hits In 6 Innings

TUCSON, Ariz., March 29—(AP)—Sad Sam Zoldak of the Cleveland Indians is going to merit a new nickname if he keeps on pitching like he did yesterday.

The once portly southpaw, now a streamlined 175 pounds, limited the New York Giants to two hits in six innings in an exhibition game at Phoenix.

The Tribe came from behind to racks up its third straight victory over the National Leaguers, 4-2. Sad Sam had two runs scored against him, but both were unearned. He now has pitched 16 consecutive innings without yielding an earned run.

Reds Won 11th In 15 Starts

TAMPA, Fla., March 29—(AP)—It's getting harder and harder to figure out the amazing Cincinnati Reds.

Yesterday they won their sixth straight spring training exhibition game and their 11th in 15 starts by beating the Detroit Tigers, 12 to 7, but—

Ewell Blackwell—their hope to pitch them out of seventh place in the National League — was punched around like a rookie. The Tigers got him for seven runs and eight hits in five innings.

Then to make it all the more confusing, Blackwell came up after the game with the statement that "My arm felt fine . . . I'm more encouraged about staging a comeback than I was during the first ten days of training."

Debut of Appling Has Been Delayed

YUMA, Ariz., March 29—(AP)—The debut of Luke Appling, veteran Chicago White Sox shortstop, as a first baseman has been delayed indefinitely, manager Jack Onslow said today.

Luke was scheduled to cover the first sack today against the St. Louis Browns. But in practice he has had trouble with his footwork and picking up grounders because of the unfamiliar glove.

Appling hasn't been too happy about the switch, but has brightened considerably after assurance from his teammates that he could go on for another ten years as a first baseman.

Cubs and Giants May Do Some Trading

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 29—(AP)—Talent chief Wid Matthews of the Chicago Cubs confirmed today that the club's veteran first baseman and outfielder, Phil Cavarretta, may be involved in a trade with the New York Giants.

Matthews said the Giants would like to have Cavarretta.

"We will trade anybody if it will help us," he added.

The hustling Cavarretta has been with the Cubs since 1934.

Phils Buried Cards 21-6

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 29—(AP)—Just what kind of powerhouse has manager Eddie Sawyer of the Philadelphia Phillies assembled for the 1950 National League campaign?

For the second straight day the Phils' hits were good for 31 bases in burying the St. Louis Cardinals, 21-6, yesterday. They had 14 hits against four Cardinal pitchers. On Monday they totaled 31 cases on 17 hits against the Washington Senators.

The Phils power right now is really terrific and Sawyer is hoping they carry it over into the regular campaign. Every man is swinging from the heels with the result that 24 home runs have bounced off Phils' bats this spring.

3-Way Battle for A's Catching Duties

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 29—(AP)—The battle for the Philadelphia Athletics No. 1 catching slot can now be considered a three-way affair.

Fermin (Mike) Guerra arrived in the A's camp yesterday, came to terms with manager Connie Mack and lost no time in getting down to work.

Mike—a full month late in reporting—relieved Joe Astroth for the last five innings of the game with Toronto of the International League, singled home one run, scored once and handled his catching duties with mid-season finesse.

Astroth and Joe Tipton have been battling for the A's regular catching assignment.

21-Year-Old Pitches Today For Pirates

TUCSON, Ariz., March 29—(AP)—Young Bill MacDonald, the Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher who celebrated his 21st birthday yesterday, gets the starting job against the Cleveland Indians in the Bucs exhibition baseball game today.

Pirate fans who keep worrying about the absence of Ralph Kiner and his home run slugging can take it easy. Buc officials say Kiner is available to play if necessary, but they don't want him to take any chances of re-injuring that right wrist by getting back into action too soon.

Ted Wilks Advocates A Wide Home Plate

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 29—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals' ace relief hurler, Ted Wilks, advocates a wider home plate.

He would increase the plate three inches from its present 17-inch width.

"What happens now? We come up with curves, sliders, knucklers and floaters, and sometimes we miss the mark by an inch or two," he said. "When the count gets to three balls and two strikes, a pitcher must cut the next one pretty thin. He can't miss the plate, or it means a walk for the batter, and at the same time he's leveling for those short home run fences."

Player Was Tired But Insisted On Playing

BURBANK, Calif., March 29—(AP)—Frank Gustine, who reported three weeks late for the St. Louis Browns spring training in a run-down and nervous condition, played nine innings at third base yesterday.

He participated in an intra-squad game before the Browns broke camp to begin their 16-day barnstorming trip home.

He had a single in four times at bat and drew a throwing error on two fielding chances.

"Frank was tired, but he insisted on playing the full game," manager Zack Taylor said. "I liked that fellow's attitude when I coached from Pittsburgh in 1947 and I still do."

Will Use Psychology On An Infielder

ORLANDO, Fla., March 29—(AP)—Manager Bucky Harris figures his main job with the Washington Senators is making a big leaguer out of outfielder Gil Coan, who under other managers looked so good and played so bad. The Harris psychology: Leave him alone and let him build up confidence. In the grapefruit league, Coan has hit .300 and hit five homers so far.

Manager of Braves Talks About a Boy

Del Crandall, Kid of 20, is No. 1 Catcher

By Jack Hand

BRADENTON, Fla., March 29—(AP)—Del Crandall, a carrot-topped kid of 20, is ranked by his Boston boss as a young Gabby Hartnett.

"He reminds me of Hartnett when he first came up," said Billy Southworth, manager of the Boston Braves. "Great arm, accurate, too. He's my No. 1 catcher."

"Right now this kid can do everything Cooper could when he came up except hit for distance," said Southworth. "This kid is a good hitter, too. A good receiver. Smart.

"I think if you look up the records you'll find he had more assists than any other catcher in the league, except Roy Campanella.

"And he didn't come up until June."

Crandall has 39 assists in 67 games. Three others had more but they all played around 100 games.

Del is far ahead of his own schedule. When he signed with the Braves in 1948, he set his sights on going south with the big league club in 1950. He went south, all right, but as the first string catcher.

Catcher Speaks

"I wasn't a bonus player," he said, "they guaranteed me a two-year contract with Milwaukee although I was in Leavenworth, Kas., in the Western Association (Class C) the first year in 1948. That was the year the Braves won the pennant. I didn't see the games but I listened on the radio. It was then I set my goal as 1950.

"Last spring I went south with Milwaukee. We trained at Austin, Texas. Just before opening day they sent me out to Evansville, Ind., in the Three-I league (Class B).

"On June 15 I was writing a letter home. We had been rained out six days straight. Our business manager called me up and said I was going up to Boston. At first, I thought somebody was kidding. But no, they told me Mr. Perini (President Lou Perini of the Braves) would have his pilot pick me up that night and we'd join the club at Pittsburgh.

Two days later Crandall was behind the bat, catching a losing game for Bob Hall. For a time he alternated with the lefthanded hitting Bill Salkeld. Down the stretch he did most of the work.

One reason for Southworth's optimism about 1950 is Crandall, an eager youngster whose dreams came true a year ahead of time.

A St. Louis regional committee was named. About 160 schools in Missouri have either baseball or softball teams and are eligible for the tournament. About 32 local teams are expected to enter.

Kryhoski Joins Priddy to Give Detroit Right Side of Infield; $75,000 House Must be Kept

DETROIT — (NEA) — There was nothing wrong with the Tigers last season that a right side of the infield would not have cured.

General Manager Billy Evans hopes he has solved the Detroit problem with the purchase of Second Baseman Jerry Priddy from the Browns and the acquisition of Dick Kryhoski from the Yankees in exchange for Dick Wakefield.

Sucban excellent judge as Manager Bill Meyer of the Pirates, who saw him in the Yankee chain, says young Kryhoski is a potential Lou Gehrig.

Second Line Pitching

Red Rolfe's biggest job at the Lakeland, Fla., camp will be to build a second-line and some relief pitching behind Newhouser, Trucks, Hutchinson, Houtteman and Gray. He has Dizzy Trout and Hal White, of course, but still considers himself thin.

The better new prospects are Art McConnell, Saul Rogovin and Jim Parton. McConnell is a slim right hander who won 17 while losing 11 with Little Rock. Southpaw Rogovin contributed sixteen games to the pennant winning Buffalo club of the International league. Parton, also left handed, won only four while dropping seven for the Bisons, but possesses a fine fast ball.

Catcher Buddy House reportedly paid a then record $75,000 for signing, must be retained, although all hands agree he needs further seasoning. Batting .261 for Flint, Mich., of the Class A Central league, the 20-year-old Bessemer, Ala., bonus baby did not look like $75,000 worth.

House having to be kept makes it rough for Joe Ginsberg, who is highly regarded, but the former Detroit sandlotter will get a real chance in competition with Aaron Robinson and Bob Swift. He handled Freddie Hutchinson in a four-hit victory over the Yankees in 1948. A left-hand hitter, he batted .283 with Triple A Toledo last trip.

Looking for a job behind the remarkable young outfield of Wertz, Groth and Evers and Mullin are Johnny Creel and George Lerchen. Creel is back from Little Rock. Lerchen, a good fielder, hit .298 for Toledo.

Bob Mavis, who hit .301 for the Mudhens as the slickest defensive second baseman in the American Association and Al Federoff, up from Little Rock, are utility infield prospects, but the latter will probably be sent out again.

Dick Kryhoski — and Jerry Priddy — could take this Detroit club a long way.

Hutchinson Pegs Too Carefully to Red Sox in Eighth

By Freddie Hutchinson
Detroit Tigers' Pitcher

My biggest boner was pulled at Dtroit's Navin field in 1946.

I had the pennant-winning Red Sox of that year shut out with two out in the eighth inning, and two strikes on the next two hitters.

If memory serves it was Johnny Pesky on whom I had two strikes and no balls before I walked him.

As I recall it, George Metkovitch, batted next, and I had two strikes and one ball on him before issuing free transportation.

That brought up Ted Williams, and naturally I was ordered to put him on, filling the bases.

What galled me, though, was walking the next man, Bobby Doerr, forcing in the only run of the game and beating the Tigers and me, 1-0, despite a 2-hit job on my part.

My mistake, of course, was in pitching too carefully in the situation to Pesky and Metkovitch.

There was vastly less chance of their hitting the ball out of the park than Williams or Doerr. In that setup, I should have made them hit the ball.

I'll never forget it, will never do it again.

Whenever I have two out and two strikes on Ted Williams, or any of the other better sluggers, he'll hit the ball if I have to throw it right through the middle.

I'll give you a written guarantee that he won't walk.

Asks Crops On Airports

SALT LAKE CITY — (AP) — Delbert A. Fuhriman, Utah aeronautics director,, says low-growing crops like grain, alfalfa, legumes and grass might be profitable on many airfields. "Some farmed fields might be better to land on than they are in their natural state," he says.

"We can take a lesson from the Flying Farmers in the United States. Many have strips at their landing fields in growing crops. Their safety record is excellent.' Besides the cash income from the crops, Fuhriman says, the airports would benefit in weed and mosquito control. He adds that if the land isn't fertile enough to support crops, grass could be grown and erosion reduced.

'Swing Your Partner'---9

By MARGOT MAYO — Leading Square Dance Authority
Written for NEA Service

Here's the ninth of 12 lesson articles that show you how to do the basic square dancing steps and some of the advanced figures. Later articles will refer back to earlier lessons, so save them all for future reference.

The sketch at left illustrates the ever-popular elbow swing. In this illustration, a man and lady are elbow-swinging, but the step can be, and often is, performed by two men, or two ladies.

With the dancers in their home positions, the caller will say:

"First couple out with an elbow swing

"Now the second couple do the very same thing."

Or he may call for two gents to do the elbow swing or two opposite ladies, or any combination.

The step is simply to hook right elbows and whirl around once.

The rest of this chapter is devoted to the very famous "pop goes the weasel" dance. Step by step, here is the way you "pop the weasel."

1. The head, or first, lady moves to the couple to her right, joins hands with them and they circle to the left. They circle once and a half,ending up with the second couple's backs to the center.

2. The couple raises its arms, and the first lady pops through, underneath their arms, (see sketch) and proceeds on to the next couple to the right.

3. She joins hands and circles with them. Meanwhile, her partner, the head, or first, gent, follows her to the second couple. Both circle once and a half.

4. And then both are popped throught in the same way the head lady was in part 2 above.

5. The two proceed on to the next couples, the lady by this time circling with the fourth couple, and the gent with the third. They circle once and a half to the left again.

6. And once more they are popped through.

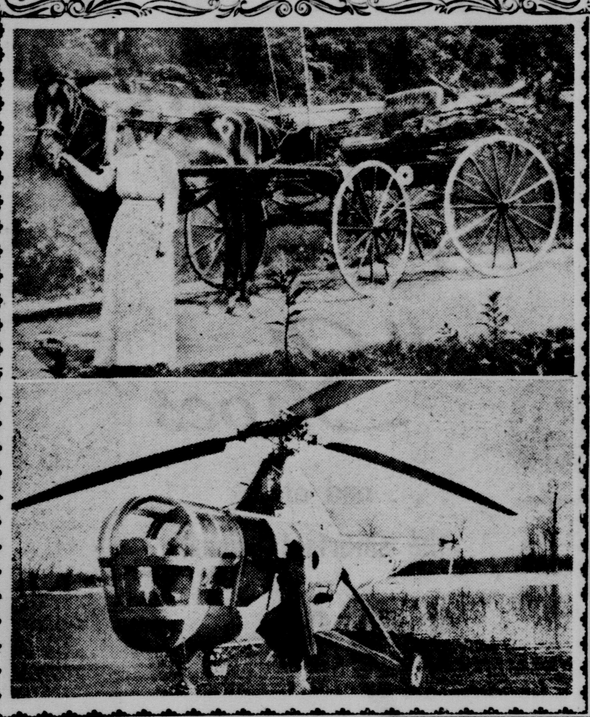

7. But this time the head lady remains in the center of the set, and her partner, after being popped through by the third couple, joins her. Then they circle four hands around with the fourth couple. They again circle once and a half.

8. The fourth couple pops both of them through, and the first couple then returns to place.

9. The figure stars over again, with the second lady leading out to the right, joining hands and circling with the third couple.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

HORSE AND BUGGY TO HELICOPTER is the story of the American Red Cross nurse in the Twentieth Century. Through the years since this vital nursing service was founded in 1910, Red Cross nurses have gone on their errands of mercy by whatever form of transportation presented itself. They have traveled on skis and snowshoes, mounted horses, paddled boats, driven "tin lizzies" through mud and snow and very often walked to visit the sick and injured in isolated or disaster-stricken areas. The "horse and buggy nurse" picture was made shortly before World War I. The "helicopter nurse" shot was taken a few weeks ago, when nurse Myrtle Wilson of St. Louis, Mo., went by Coast Guard 'copter to aid flood victims along the St. Francis River in Arkansas.

Percentages

Blighted areas make up about 20 per cent of metropolitan residential areas in the United States, but they account for 33 per cent of the towns' population, 35 per cent of the fires, 45 per cent of major crimes, 55 per cent of juvenile delinquency, and 60 per cent of tuberculosis victims.

No Federal Tax Required $100 Plate Dinner

Rep. Reed Discloses Ruling on Repast Of Democrats

WASHINGTON, March 29—(AP)—There will be no federal tax on the Democrats' Jefferson-Jackson day $100-a-plate dinner here, the Internal Revenue Bureau has ruled. The decision apparently applies to other Jefferson-Jackson affairs held over the country.

Somewhat in contrast, the Republicans paid 20 per cent on the admissions portions of the receipts from their Lincoln Day $1 box supper.

The Democrats did not call any of their take an admission fee and the Internal Revenue agreed that the admissions levy was not applicable.

Rep. Reed (R-NY) disclosed the decision today in a statement accusing the bureau of "political connivance and political favoritism." It was handed down in response to a query from Reed, ranking Republican on the House Ways and Means committee which writes tax laws.

Internal Revenue officials declined to make public the 2,000-word ruling by Charles Oliphant, chief counsel for the bureau. They would only say that a ruling had been made and delivered to Reed.

In general, Oliphant held that the Jefferson-Jackson Day affair, at which some 5,000 feasted in the national guard armory here, was simply a banquet or dinner in the ordinary meaning of the words, and the tax does not apply.

The real purpose, he said, was to bring together Democrats who had contributed $100 or more to national party funds.

In connection with the argument that the accompanying entertainment brought the affair within range of the admission levy, Oliphant conceded that there were performances by such headliners as Lena Horne, and Tony and Sally De Marco.

But he said that the music and other such features took up only about 30 minutes of the banquet's four hours.

The Jefferson-Jackson Day proceedings brought in $523,000 for the Democratic treasury, on which a 20 percent tax would be over $100,000.

The Oliphant decision was generally in line with Democratic officials' contention at the time.

They did concede that they owed the District of Columbia 2 per cent sales tax on meals costing more than $1.25.

The Republicans split their box supper intake. They charged $1 admission, and called it that, paying 20 percent on it. The $1 additional for a box supper was not taxed.

The treasury's take from the Republican affair was upwards of $2,000. Reed in his statement of protest declared:

"In view of the basic similarity of the two events, both of which included professional entertainment and political speeches, this ruling is a shocking example of taxation by political connivance and political favoritism."

Serves the Liveliest and Most Productive Territory in Central Missouri

Subpoenas Are Issued By Senate

Direct Three Top Officials to Turn Over Loyalty Files; Expect to be Balked

WASHINGTON, March 29—(AP)—Senate officers today served the first of three subpoenas demanding from top government officials the loyalty records which President Truman has declined to turn over to a Senate committee.

Joseph Duke, sergeant-at-arms, served his first subpoena on Harry B. Mitchell, chairman of the civil service commission, at the capitol. Mitchell had come to the capitol on business.

Duke had other subpoenas for Secretary of State Acheson and Attorney General McGrath.

The subpoenas demand —under "penalty" — that the officials produce loyalty records by next Tuesday and give them to the senate foreign relations subcommittee investigating charges of Communist infiltration of the state department.

Possible Penalty

The penalty is possible citation for contempt of the senate if the officials fail to heed the subpoenas.

KEY WEST, Fla., March 29—(AP)—The White House made it clear today that President Truman will defy attempts by the Senate committee investigating Communism in the State Department to subpoena loyalty records.

Asked about Mr. Truman's reaction to efforts to subpoena the records the president formally refused yesterday, presidential secretary Charles G. Ross referred reporters to the president's letter to Sen. Tydings (D-Md).

The letter referred to a directive of March, 1948, telling all federal officers to keep the files secret, "even in the instances where subpoenas" are received and added it was "clearly within the power of the president."

"That directive," Ross said, "still stands."

All of them are under instructions from President Truman that such records are not to be given to congressional committees. Mr. Truman issued a general order to that effect in 1948. He took the position then that there are long standing precedents for the executive branch of the government refusing to give documents to congress if it would be against the public interest.

The subcommittee, investigating charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) of Soviet espionage activities linked to the state department, demanded the full loyalty files reaching back to Jan. 1, 1940 for about 90 persons. The files sought are in the state department, the civil service loyalty board and the FBI.

The subpoenas would require the personal presence of Acheson, McGrath and Mitchell — with the files — before the inquiry group next Tuesday.

Truman's Reasons

Mr. Truman gave eight reasons why he doesn't want to open the files. He said public disclosure:

1. Would tip "criminals, foreign agents, subversives and others" on how the FBI works and put "additional shackles" on the FBI.

2. Would break confidence with persons who have furnished con-

Thirteen Are To Surrender

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 29.—(AP)—Thirteen Missourians from the northwest area were expected to surrender today in an indictment by a federal grand jury charging them with grain fraud.

Fifteen others from this area gave up yesterday and were released on $5,000 bonds following arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Maurice Pope. Their warrants and bonds are returnable at Wichita, Kas., May 8. They were indicted at Topeka, Kas.

They were identified as Paul Blackford and Marshall Weddle of Clearmont, Smiley F. Griffey of Marryville, William Blackford of Ravenwod, and the following from St. Joseph, Burton H. Herpel, Carroll D. Hager, Earl Murray, Jr., Henry Swaney, Ronald L. Hawk, Melvin L. McNutt, Gerald Vanover, John Thomas Holt, George Nielson and Hans Nielson.

The men, all truck drivers, allegedly defrauded farmers and elevator operators in Kansas and other western states by false weights and jacks.

Optimists Plan To Entertain The Governor

Winds up His Gas Tax Campaign Here Monday Night

Gov. Forrest Smith will windup his gasoline tax campaign in western Missouri, by delivering a statewide radio hookup address in the Pettis county circuit court room Monday evening at 8:15 o'clock, this being the night before April 4 special referendum election.

The governor and his group, if possible, will arrive late Monday afternoon and will be guests of the board of directors of the Sedalia Optimist club to a dinner in Bothwell hotel. Other guests at the dinner will be Mayor Julian H. Bagby and Noel Tweet, president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

The Sedalia Optimist club, sponsoring Gov. Smith's talk, invited him to make a talk at one of their March meetings but his schedule did not permit. As he is vitally interested in youth the governor asked to be called at a later date.

For Gasoline Tax

During the radio time he will talk on the proposed gas tax in an endeavor to get a favorable vote to give Missouri more and better roads. After he finishes the radio talk he will concentrate on the boys' work of the Optimist club. Since he is a member of the board for the proposed air academy he might have something of interest to say on this subject.

It is the hope of the officers and directors of the Sedalia Optimist club that every interested citizen will be present to hear the governor in the circuit court room.

Gov. Smith will be introduced by C. Patrick Darnell, the president-elect of the Optimist club.

Governor Encouraged

JEFFERSON CITY, March 29—(AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith indicated today passage of a Kansas City school levy had encouraged him about prospects of a four cent gasoline tax bill in next Tuesday's special statewide election.

"I feel very confident," he told his news conference after noting yesterday's big vote in Kansas City.

Court Decides Jurisdiction

JEFFERSON CITY, March 29.—(AP)—The Missouri supreme court today ordered the St. Louis circuit court records cleared of remarks made March 4 by Judge Harry F. Russell in a case involving General American Life Insurance company.

The supreme court said Judge Russell "undertook to declare a mistrial" and said he had no further jurisdiction in the case. He transferred it to Division 2 of the St. Louis circuit court, under Judge Edward M. Ruddy.

Earlier the supreme court had appointed Frank W. Hayes of Sedalia a sspecial commissioner to review legal differences between the insurance firm and Judge Russell. Today the court said Hayes' services as commissioner were no longer needed since the case now is before Judge Ruddy.

The court awarded Hayes $500 for work he already has done.

Lions Host to BFA Members

The Sedalia Lions club is host tonight to about 75 members of the 1949 and 1950 Balanced Farming Association.

The dinner will be at the Hotel Bothwell and will start at seven o'clock. Professor C. R. Meeker, extension specialist in farm management at the University of Missouri College of Agriculture will be the speaker.

Members of these associations pay $75.00 per farm per year. Association funds are used to hire an associate county agent who spends his full time on the farms of association members. Assistance is given toward increasing net farm income by carrying out recommended good farming practices such as soil conservation and improved cropping, pasture and livestock systems.

Assistance is also available to aid in planning the remodeling and improving of the farm home.

Circus is Coming in June; C. of C. to Share Profits

A special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce was called this morning by Harold Seaberg, vice president of that organization, at which time it was decided that the Chamber of Commerce would sponsor a three-ring circus to be presented Wednesday, June 14, one day only, at the State Fair grounds. Seaberg presided at the meeting in the absence of Noel Tweet, president.

The Chamber of Commerce has contracted for afternoon and evening performances that day by a major, organized traveling circus, Mills Bros. Three Ring Circus., menagerie and horse show combined. Details were announced by Wm. E. Hurlbut, director of publicity of the Chamber of Commerce upon completing negotiations with H. W. Ahrhart, Jr., general agent of the world's third largest circus and the largest under canvas that plays only under sponsorship of civic, service and charitable groups.

"The Mills Bros. circus comes highly recommended by groups which have presented it as their annual fund-raising project and the contract gives an opportunity to raise a considerable sum for the Sedalia Promotional fund," Mr. Hurlbut said. "Heaviest proceeds will come from advance ticket sales which will be launched shortly by C .of C. members.

"Details of a special campaign through which all needy youngsters of the area will attend the matinee free will be announced soon, together with names of our circus committeemen."

Mills Bros. is celebrating its 11th season. Ceremonial Cremation Fire Lighted

Over Remains of Boy King of Thailand, Killed 4 Years Ago

By Milton Marmor

BANGKOK, Thailand (Siam), March 29—(AP)—A ceremonial cremation fire was lighted over the remains of Thailand's slain boy King Ananda in a rite of medieval pomp and glitter.

The ceremonial fire later was extinguished. The actual cremation will come later tonight at a private ceremony.

The ceremonial fire was lighted by Ananda's brother, Phumiphon Aduldet, the new monarch of this oriental kingdom.

More than a half-million subjects of this color-drenched kingdom surged against police lines to gaze in somber silence at the ill-fated monarch's funeral march.

Ananda was slain mysteriously four years ago.

Multitudes waited throughout a star-filled night for a glimpse of the cremation ceremony. They wanted also to see their new king, Phumiphon Aduldet, student-brother of Ananda.

Priests Changed All Night

Priests changed all night in the temple where the golden urn containing Ananda's remains rested. Shortly after dawn the urn, covered with embroidered cloth, was placed on a three-axle caisson 40 feet high.

The procession was a brilliant pageant of color, streaked with black echoing the sadness of a nation.

Bearers of the royal regalia marched in a mournful dance, carrying the swords, parasol, royal fan and other paraphernalia of the late king.

Next came the one-faced bronze ceremonial drums, followed by 30 footmen pulling a carriage. Atop it sat the high Buddhist priest, his bare torso contrasting vividly with the multicolored dress of other marchers.

Then came the caisson, a nine-tiered silken umbrella protecting its burden.

Held Parasol Over King

Behind walked the 22 year old King Phumiphon, tall for a Siamese. Two pages kept pace, taking turns at holding a parasol over him.

The royal family walked behind the king. Then came top government officials and chiefs of diplomatic missions dressed in formal attire.

At the cremation enclosure, the urn was removed from the caisson and placed upon another. This caisson circled counter clockwise a 10-story edifice symbolizing the Olympian mount of the Buddhist belief.

A flute piped a weird strain. Slowly the golden urn, heavy with jewels, was raised by pulley to the top of the cremation edifice, shining like burnished gold against the backdrop of Bangkok's wondrous temples.

Then, slowly the silver screens were shut and the golden curtains drawn.

King Phumiphon was to return later to light symbolically the funeral pyre. But the actual cremation will come at night, with only the royal mourners looking on.

Throughout the four hour ceremony, cannon boomed, one each minute. Most of the huge crowd were dressed in mourning, with the women all in black. Children waved black balloons carrying Ananda's picture.

Californian Wants to Have Orange Rolling

COVINA, Calif., March 29—(AP)—Kermit Wilson wants to change an old White House tradition. He said he has sent this telegram to Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.):

"Respectfully request you intercede with president and suggest rolling of oranges on White House lawn this Easter instead of eggs. This would be in line with government's recommended crop rotation principles and obviously a fair deal for all. Also, it will help take spotlight off administration's embarrassing egg surplus. x x x."

Wilson is the owner of a 40-acre citrus grove.

Wilson could have saved himself some effort: the White House egg rollings were dropped during the war and haven't been revived yet.

Proposal for Junior C. of C.

Meeting Thursday Night by Group Of Young Men

An orientation meeting of a group of young men interested in the organization of a Junior Chamber of Commerce club here in Sedalia will be held in the board room of the Chamber of Commerce offices at 112 West Fourth street at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night.

The session will be attended by state officials, including the state president, James Kolb of Jefferson City. Kolb in informal interviews with about twenty of Sedalia's young business men recently urged them to attend this meeting and to bring all of their friends that could meet the age requirements of being between twenty-one and thirty-five years of age.

Kolb said that this organization should include young men from all walks of life. He said that young men from Sedalia's outlying areas and anyone who has not been contacted personally by him, but who are interested in the organization of such club, are welcome at this meeting.

Advantages to be Stressed

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is a supplementary educational organization wherein young men of a community may join together in a friendly spirit to inculcate a civic consciousness in its membership by means of active participation in constructive projects which will improve the community and the state and nation.

Advantages of Junior Chamber of Commerce membership will be discussed at this meeting as will the state, national and international affiliations. There are nearly 2,000 local organizations and these are in every state, in Alaska, Hawaii and in 35 foreign countries.. The total membership of the United States Junior Chamber is now more than 150,000.

Kolb said that the organization offers a young man the participation in community affairs that embody all the elements of successful business operation. In a booklet circulated here by the state office the Jaycee organization places a young man in the position where he can:

Receive a practice business education, without cost or risk to yourself.

Develop new friends—based upon common interest and respect.

Develop as a civic leader. You will become important in your community.

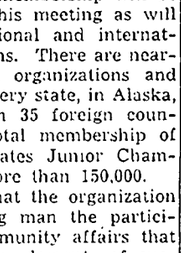

Help to make your community a better place in which to live today, tomorrow and in the future.

Establish a friendly contact with thousands of intelligent young men in hundreds of communities throughout the nation.

Provide for contact with young men in many foreign lands.

Increase your ability to speak and influence people. And to become a leader.

Thought for Today

If I can stop one heart from breaking,

If I can ease one life the aching,
Or cool one pain,
Or help one fainting robin
Into his nest again,
I shall not live in vain.

Atlantic Pact Machinery About to Roll

Designed For Peace, But Ready For War if Need be

By The Associated Press

Diplomats in London said today the Atlantic Pact machinery—designed for peace but ready for war if need be—is about to roll in high gear.

New western moves in the cold war with Russia will be charted by the foreign ministers of the Atlantic alliance countries in London called for May 8.

Britain's Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in announcing the date expressed belief that the growing power of the alliance will give the Soviet government no alternative but to negotiate with the west to settle grave problems dividing the world.

Bevin told parliament there is a growing desire among the 12 pact allies to deal with economic and political matters as well as mere territorial defense.

Finance Ministers Meet

In keeping with this the finance ministers of the 12 nations meet in London today to work out the financial problems of their common defense.

A committee of military chiefs of state yesterday at the Hague gave their unanimous approval to a masterplan in which each nation was assigned a specific role to play.

On Saturday the defense ministers of the alliance will also meet in the Hague to go over the plans of their military and economic advisers.

Claim Naval Victory

At Taipei, Formosa, Nationalist Chinese claimed a naval victory over the Communists. The Nationalists said their warships routed two fleets of 100 well-armed junks south of Shanghai. The warships sunk many junks and silenced Red shore batteries 22 miles from Shanghai, it was claimed.

Nationalist President Chiang Kai-Shek delivered a fiery speech denouncing Communism. He called upon Chinese youth "to assume a holy mission of crushing the Communist traitors, driving out the Russian aggressors, restoring the Chinese Republic and rescuing our compatriots on the mainland."

Order Expulsion of Newsman

The Communist-dominated Czechoslovak government has ordered the expulsion of the last American correspondent of the Associated Press left in Prague. Information Minister Vaclav Kopecky has hinted there may be further expulsions of the few remaining western correspondents.

A government official gave "unobjective reporting" as the reason for ordering AP's Nathan Polowetzky to leave the country by April 8. He had been the lone United States national representing the AP since chief of bureau Richard Kasischke was expelled last January with three other western correspondents. All the expelled newsmen had been charged with unobjective reporting. They denied it.

Carriers' Feud Results in Death of One

Ill Feeling Had Existed Between Boys For Months

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark., March 29—(AP)— A long-standing feud between rival teen-aged newspaper carriers resulted today in the death of one of them with a shotgun charge in the face.

Sheriff Guy Hickman said Pat Bowers, 14, shot Wayne Cothren, 15, from a few feet away when they met on a street in a residential section here after school yesterday afternoon.

Young Cothren died this morning.

The Bowers boy was held without charge.

Prosecutor Robert H. Williams said "some charge" would be filed.

Ill Feeling for Some Time

The prosecutor said ill feeling had existed between the boys for several months and that Cothren had beaten Bowers in fights.

Williams quoted Bowers as saying he had taken the shotgun to a grocery store yesterday morning and picked it up after school.

Apparently Cothren was advancing on Bowers when the latter fired the gun, the prosecutor said.

The right side of Cothren's face was shot away.

Williams said one other boy had witnessed the shooting, but the lad's name was not disclosed.

Son of Widow

Cothren was the son of Mrs. Izada Walker of Springfield, Mo. His father was dead and he lived

Passengers No Time To Jump

Lone Survivor of Embassy Plane Crash Talks To Reporters

OTTAWA, March 29—(AP)—The lone survivor of yesterday's plane crash which killed U. S. Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt and four other persons said today that flames enveloped the plane so swiftly no one else had time to bail out.

"Four of them had their parachutes on," M/Sgt. Gwynne A. Long of Vannoy, N. C., told reporters in a hospital bedside interview.

"I had told them to bail," Long said, "but something happened. They did not make it. There wasn't time."

Long said the flames broke out in the right wing of the twin-engined transport, and swiftly spread through the whole plane.

"The pilot, Lt. Col. Wayne Trueblood, had been holding her steady, so we could bail out," Long said. "We were getting ready to jump when the right wing blew and it spread to the inside of the plane. We were going down very fast all of a sudden. I figured we had six or seven seconds. I went ahead and bailed out from 600 to 800 feet up."

Started For Chute

"The Ambassador was sitting on the right side at the front," he continued. "He moved to the rear to get his chute on. If he hadn't he would have been burned."

Long said he hadn't the "vaguest idea" what caused the fire.

"I have no knowledge of sabotage," he said when asked if that could have been the cause.

The engine where the fire broke out had been working all right, he said, the the plane had been given a "very good" check before the take-off.

Long said it was the first time he had jumped. He said he landed heavily in the snow and twisted his leg.

RAMSALVILLE, Ont., March 29.—(AP)—The U.S. air force's top safety officer began an an investigation today into the explosion and crash of the U. S. embassy plane in which American ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt and four others were killed yesterday.

Maj. Gen. Victor E. Bertrandias, director of flying safety for the air force, took a leading role in the inquiry started by Canadian police and Royal Canadian air force officers shortly after the tragedy.

The chief witness is the sole survivor of the crash, M/Sgt. Gwynne A. Long, Vannoy, N. C., who parachuted from the flaming plane just before it blew up and plowed into a snow-covered field near here.

Got Panicky

Suffering from shock and leg injuries, Sgt. Long told investigators last night that all aboard the plane strapped on parachutes after the right engine caught fire, but that the other passengers "got panicky and would not bail out." Newsmen have not been permitted to question him at the hospital where he is confined.

Among the four other victims was Alan C. Harrington, 20, son of Julian Harrington, the U. S. minister to Ottawa.

Preliminary investigations tended to discount early rumors that the plane may have been sabotaged. The rumors started in view of the fact that the weather was clear and the light good.

The R.C.A.F. investigators said there was no indication of sabotage. They explained that a fire in the engine could have touched off an expuosion in the plane's wing gasoline tanks.

Prominent Boonville Woman Is Dead

BOONVILLE, Mo., March 29—(AP)—Mrs. H. C. Duncan, mother of former state senator C. S. Duncan of New Franklin, died here today.

She was the widow of H. C. Duncan, Boonville business man, and a great niece of General William Ashley, first lieutenant governor of Missouri.

Fires Under Control

JEFFERSON CITY, March 29.—(AP)—Ozark forest fires were reported under control today, but watchful foresters kept their fingers crossed.

They said the danger was not over because the old Ozark practice of "spring burning" was still going on.

Address by Wilbert C. Askew, Candidate for Mayor, Sedalia

Wilbert C. Askew, Democratic candidate for mayor, April 4, gave the following speech at a Democratic rally, attended by a large crowd in Jefferson school, Tuesday night:

"It is my privilege and pleasure to bring to you—before city election day—my sincere greetings, and a few facts, which cause me to desire to be elected, as your choice, to the office of mayor of our city, for the next term.

"I am not unmindful of the high honor I am asking. Neither am I without a due appreciation of the great responsibility involved.

Anyone, seeking to be your choice for this highest administrative office of our city, should have definite, satisfactory reasons for desiring the office. And, should also, have certain fundamental qualifications for performing the duties and the responsibilities involved. For instance, the modest salary that this office pays, would hardly, in itself be a sufficient reason for desiring the office. And—as to qualifications—the fact that one is an affable gentleman—belongs to "this" or "that" civic, social or other groups, even bears a reputation, above question, for integrity and fair-dealings—if I possessed all of these qualifications in abundant measure, it would hardly constitute a reason why you should give me your vote to place me in a highly specialized administrative office.

A Big Business

"Our city government is a big business enterprise—involving the receiving and expending of a vast sum of money—well over a half million dollars annually.

"Something much more important is also involved; namely, the health and happiness of twenty-five thousand citizens, as well as their economic, educational, cultural and social well-being.

"Anyone, who successfully administers a business of such magnitude, must be in addition much more than well-intentioned and honest. He must have business sense, and business experience to match his honesty and his good intentions. He must have upon his heart and his conscience, not just a job for himself, but a willingness to expend himself in discharging his responsibilities to twenty-five thousands of his fellow-citizens. At least, this is the way I look upon the matter of asking you to make me your choice as the next mayor of the city of Sedalia.

Spent Boyhood Near Sedalia

"Now, it has been said that I have been a resident of the city of Sedalia for only a comparatively short term of years. This is a true statement. But, this fact does not affect my qualifications. My boyhood was spent only forty miles from Sedalia. And, almost all my life has been spent in Central Missouri—except, for the time I served with the armed forces of

Divorcee Accused In Death of Clerk

BEDFORD, Va., March 29—(AP)—Police arrested a 42-year-old divorcee Tuesday and charged her with murder in the abortion death of pretty Alice Marie Taylor, a Roanoke government clerk.

They picked up Mrs. Dartha Louise Fulton, a former taxi driver, at a tourist camp near Roanoke, brought her back and after prolonged questioning lodged her in jail.

With her to jail went two associates, Woodson Tuck, 20, held as an accessory, and Mrs. Christine Jones, 28, held as a material witness. They were picked up here at their homes.

Announcement of the arrests and the cause of the death of the 24-year-old Veterans Administration worker snatched off the lid of secrecy officers had clamped on their investigation from the outset.

Commonwealth's Attorney Bolling Lamberth of Bedford county made the disclosure as Mrs. Fulton, dressed in subdued blue and calmly chewing gum, was led off to jail.

Large Crowd At Rally Held By Democrats

William F. Brown Chief Speaker—W. C. Askew Also Spoke

A large crowd attended a Democratic ward meeting held Tuesday night in Jefferson school, at which time W. C. Askew, candidate for mayor and William F. Brown, talked. Brown's talk in part follows:

"Sedalia is becoming more and more accepted as one of the most progressive cities of the midwest. This has been brought about because we have had progressive men managing the affairs of our city in recent years.

"In the main our city government recently has been composed of young or middle aged men, having a real and vital interest in the future welfare of this community; not only because of their business, employment or investment here, but also as a pleasant surrounding for their families. We certainly want to continue this progress and we definitely want to keep abreast of modern times. In order to do this it is extremely important that we select our representatives in our City Government with care and forethought. We must demand of those representatives a farsighted long range view of our affairs. We must avoid the attitude of merely holding the pieces together and accepting no improvement or change.

Must Be Civic Minded

"The Democratic party of Sedalia invites you to compare our candidates with their opposition; to ascertain for yourselves whether or not the Democratic candidates are more capable, conscientious and progressive than their opposition. The office of mayor only pays a salary of $200 a month, which is insufficient to make it attractive from the standpoint of income alone. The real test of a public servant is his ability to honestly and adequately fill the office he holds and his interest in the office.

"In addition to this we must learn the motives behind his candidacy. Does he seek the office or does the office seek him? If he seeks the office, does he do so for personal gain or does he have some purely personal axe to grind? Without exception the Democratic candidates have been prevailed upon to be a candidate—because their friends and supporters honestly believed them to be the best qualified available person for the office and their service to this community will be made at some sacrifice to themselves. We have nominated men that have demonstrated their abilities by making a success of their occupation, business or profession.

"They have each proven, enumerable times, that they are civic minded and progressive; that they are vitally interested in the welfare of this city and are willing to make sacrifices themselves to help make this a better city. We owe it to ourselves to elect to office candidates in whom we place confidence, because of their knowledge in their proven performance; busy and successful men who are conscientious enough to realize that it is a civic duty to represent their city and are willing to become your servant and for that reason alone.

"Under this Democratic administration you were pledged certain badly needed improvements and those pledges have been kept. The present Democratic candidates pledge to you a continuation of progressive improvement for our city."

Dewey Guinn was the chairman and introduced the guest speaker and the Democratic candidates subject to the city election, April 4.

Refreshments of pie and coffee were served after the speaking program.

L. G. Bohon Struck by Hit And Run Driver

Louis G. Bohon, 69, was treated at the Bothwell hospital shortly before midnight for injuries received when struck by a hit and run driver, about one block south of his home on the Abell road, southeast of Sedalia. His injuries are not serious and he was released to return to his home.

He received a broken nose, cuts and cruises about his face. Dr. J. M. Rodeman treated Bohon at the hospital.

Mr. Bohon was taken to his home by David Bryant, who came by the place a few minutes later, and from there he was removed to the hospital by Bryant and Mr. Bohon's daughter.

CHURCH NEWS

The W. M. S. of the Flat Creek Baptist church met recently at the home of Mrs. O. F. Richardson.

The study lesson was given in the morning and after a school lunch at noon at which coffee was served by the hostesses, the afternoon was spent in quilting for the Ironton Home for the Aged. Thirteen members and one visitor were present.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Anderson, route 2, at which time the quilt will be finished and the lesson given.

our country during World War two. So, I am not unfamiliar with the needs and problems of this section of our country. And, I have lived in Sedalia long enough to love it—appreciate the opportunity it has given me—and to see some of its possibilities for the future.

"During the present administration, the money paid in taxes, yours and mine, has not been hoarded, but wisely spent in improving living conditions, expanding business opportunities, and, furthering the health, safety, and general well-being of our people.

Accomplishments

During this period, we have had six hundred and forty blocks—or forty miles of our city streets resurfaced. This extensive street improvement project has been paid for, from the funds produced by our parking meters in the business district—our one-cent city tax on gasoline, and our city automobile "stickers." You will readily see that this street improvement has been done with no direct cost to the property owners.

"During this same period, some seven hundred metal street markers have been placed, giving the names of the streets at every intersection of our city. This has proved to be a great convenience for our own people, and also for visitors in Sedalia.

"Have you considered the amount of building, of every kind, which has taken place here, during the past four years? Nine hundred building permits have been issued—the cost of these buildings being in excess of five million dollars. Four hundred and eighty of these permits were for new homes. There must be something right about this town, when new industry and business, and also new citizens are thus attracted to Sedalia.

Recreation Facilities

When we desire a bit of pleasure or recreation, or a chance to eat a picnic lunch with a few, or even a large group of our friends, we almost instinctively say, "let's go to the park"—for we know, in our city, the distance to an attractive park is not great, and the expense will be small. But, do we always realize that it is the forethought of the city administration that provides these places for our convenience, when we feel the need of rest and relaxation? During the past four years, more than sixty-three thousand dollars has been spent improving these facilities. Land for two new parks has been purchased and added to our park system. Tree, flower and shrubbery plantings, grading, sodding, drinking fountains, improving drives, walks and lighting facilities—all these have added much to the health, happiness and well-being of our community.

Watched Progress

"I have watched the progress of Sedalia during the past four years, —and— if elected your mayor, it would be my sincere aim to go even further along the path so ably marked by the present administration. I have recited these accomplishments of the past for one purpose—it should cause us to have a wholesome civic pride in our beautiful city. It should cause us, also, to feel a deep civic responsibility to carry on faithfully in the future.

"I feel that the motive and the direction of Sedalia's city affairs have been right, and that an amazing degree of progress and success have been attained. If you honor me with this office, it is my plan and purpose to give my utmost effort to carry on this program of betterment, and, to improve it, as opportunity and occasion may arise.

"I have, personally, investigated the finances of our city, and it is my opinion that it will be unnecessary to raise taxes, unless, you desire and demand new services.

In Business Twelve Years

"For the past twelve years, I have been in business. These have been years of hard work, and, I believe, years in which I have increased my ability in managing business. I enjoy business administration, and, I think, that my record shows that I have been fairly successful at it. Any unprejudiced persons, who will take the time and trouble to investigate by business dealings and practices, will be convinced that, without exception, they have been conducted in a manner, of which no gentleman need be ashamed, and for which no apologies need be offered.

"It is my conviction, that business experience, business ability, and business integrity should be a matter, not of promise, but a matter of record. Mine is a matter of record. And, any voter, seeking to know the truth, is invited to study the record. And, further, if elected, I definitely intend to maintain regular hours each day in the mayor's office in the City Hall conducting city business.

"I would like to make, in conclusion, one further statement. I am not asking for a job—I have —one—one that I like. I am asking an opportunity to serve this community—the people to whom I feel I owe a debt of gratitude—and a civic obligation.

"If elected, I shall, to the best of my ability, faithfully discharge that debt, and that obligation."

Former Sedalian And Talking Bird Will be on The Air

A picture of Mrs. G. William Smith, 8415 Hillcrest road, Jackson county, the former Miss Helen Cooper, of this city, and her talking bird appeared in the Sunday edition of the Kansas City Star. Mrs. Smith and her eight-months-old parakeet will be heard on WDAF at 6:15 o'clock Wednesday evening and will also be on television.

Mrs. Smith is a niece of Mrs. J. D. Murphy and Miss Jennie Cooper, both of 1503 East Broadway, and was born and reared in Sedalia.

The parakeet, weighing only an ounce and a half, is a beautiful bird with turquoise breast and brown back and wings. It was given to Mr. and Mrs. Smith and began its talking by saying one word at a time, baby, boy, and finally his own name, Blue Boy. Then he began to put words together and make sentences. His vocabulary has grown to about 75 words, he knows the dog's name and frequently calls to him. He even repeats nursery rhymes, and knows completely the nursery rhyme: "Mary's Little Lamb." If in reciting his nursery rhymes Blue Boy happens to forget a word, he doesn't hesitate, he just puts in a word of his own and goes right on.

Blue Boy is attracting a great deal of attention in Kansas City and affording Mr. and Mrs. Smith a lot of fun.

Loyal Rebekahs To Meet On Friday

Loyal Rebekah Lodge 260 will hold its regular meeting March 31st at the American Legion Hall. This is to observe the 51 years of Loyal Rebekah lodge, which was instituted in April, 1899.

Sedalians in College Play

COLUMBIA, Mo.—"To Whom It May Concern," a complete 16 m. m. sound movie, produced written, cast and directed by members of a college group, is now being released for showings in Sedalia and throughout the state.

The film cast includes members of the Presbyterian Student Association of the University of Missouri as well as Stephens and Christian colleges. Presbyterian students from Sedalia are: William Chase Coplen, Robert S. Gardner, R. L. Riley, Emily E. Banning, Milfred E. Danley and Elizabeth Stafford.

To arrange for a free showing of the half-hour film, interested groups are invited to write to Rev. John Clayton, Presbyterian Student Association, 100 Hitt street, Columbia, Mo.

"To Whom It May Concern" is a message from the students to the people of the state, showing the extent and importance of religious youth work in Missouri's educational center.

However, a definite story with plenty of humorous by-play and even a romantic sub-plot make the film more than a mere document.

The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. A. F. Scott, who spoke on "The Second War of Independence." Mrs. Frazier McVean gave an impromptu description of some of the homes she visited in Natchez. The home she found most interesting was Rosalie House, which is now owned by the D.A.R. of Mississippi. It was named for Fort Rosalie, which was adjacent to it and has been restored as nearly as possible to its original state.

Mr. and Mrs. James K. Lacey, Jr., route 1, Smithton, were at home Sunday to a group of relatives and friends honoring Mrs. Lacey's mother, Mrs. Victoria North, who was celebrating her birthday anniversary. A dinner was served cafeteria style and two birthday cakes centered the table.

Those who attended were Mrs. North's sisters Mrs. Newton Allcorn and Mr. Allcorn, Miss Florence Parrish, all of Kansas City and her brother Mr. Lee Parrish, Mrs. Arthur Griffey, Miss Mamie McCormick and Mrs. Amanda Close of Sedalia and the honoree Mrs. Victoria North and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Lacey. Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Sullivan were afternoon visitors.

Secret of The Broken Faucet Leaks Out in The Social Set

LOS ANGELES, March 29—(AP)—This is the tale of the broken water faucet that leaked out some secrets of the international social set.

Cotton broker Joseph Wade sued Edward Hillman, Jr., and his wife, June, for $44,404 damages because of injuries received in 1946. Wade said he took a shower bath while guesting in the Hillmans' Beverly Hills home and the faucet broke off in his hand, cutting it severely.

Hillman is a member of a wealthy Chicago department store family. His wife is the former Lady Inverclyde, ex-wife of British nobility. The Inverclydes own the Cunard steamship lines.

In superior court testimony yesterday, the Hillmans said that Wade took his bath, not in the room assigned him, but in a shower that connected to the room occupied by the then Marquise de la Begassiere. The Hillmans also said Wade should have looked at the faucet.

Wade said he had permission to use that shower because his own was not working. Also, he testified, that he was an unwilling guest in the house because Mrs. Hillman had requested him to stay, saying she was afraid of Hillman.

Ex-Marquise Talks

Then the ex-Marquise took the stand. She is now Mrs. Preston Lewis of New York City. She said little about the faucet but testified that Mrs. Hillman asked her to "spy" on Hillman and another guest, known only as "Miss Baker." Mrs. Lewis called Hillman a "flirt."

"For me,' she said with a French accent, "it was ze very boring evening."

Wade also added, with no apparent connection to the broken faucet, that Hillman owed him $600 lost in a backgammon game.

Also that he likes to brush his teeth and shave while taking a shower.

Triplet Sons Born Within 22 Minutes

KANSAS CITY, March 29—(AP)—Triplet sons were born tonight to Mrs. Harold Wittkopp, 23, who moved here in November from Wahpeton, N. D. the father is employed here by General Motors.

The births occurred within 22 minutes at General hospital. Mrs. Wittkopp and the triplets are doing fine, the hospital said.

Woman Files For US Senate

JEFFERSON CITY, March 29—(AP)—A woman climbed into the Democratic primary ring Monday to face three male opponents for the U. S. senatorial nomination.

Mrs. Marjorie Bell Hinrichs, 49, of St. Louis filed late yesterday. She promised more than two months ago she would try Truman's home state.

Mrs. Hinrichs is the daughter of for the nomination in President who was a Democratic power in St. Louis half a century ago. She is a cosmetics manufacturer. All three of her opponents are lawyers. They are:

State Sen. Emery W. Allison of Rolla, President Truman's choice as the man to beat Republican Sen. Forrest C. Donnell next fall. Donnell has only nominal opposition in the OP primary.

Former congressman Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., of St. Louis, claiming a big bloc of Democratic support in St. Louis and some outstate areas.

Franklin E. Reagan of St. Louis also claiming strong backing. He was the first to file in the hottest contest of the coming primary election.

Former Dancer Asks Support

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., March 29—(AP)—A former Chicago hotel dancer has sued the fabulous Robert L. Knetzer, bankrupt car dealer, for support of herself and two children.

The suit of Mrs. Dorothy Kelch Knetzer, filed in circuit court here Monday, named Knetzer as the father of her two sons, aged one and two.

She says Knetzer married her at Stuttgart, Ark., in January, 1947, without letting her know he already had a legal wife.

Mrs. Dolores Choate Knetzer, wife No. 1, filed suit for divorce earlier this month charging Knetzer with adulterous conduct." This suit did not name a co-respondent.

Both cases are scheduled to come up in circuit court here April 17.

Mrs. Dorothy Knetzer said she did not know Knetzer had a wife living in Edwardsville until involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were opened against him in October, 1948. She said Knetzer had refused to support her and the children since last May and that they are "destitute and in dire want."

The Conservative leader again proposed that the western powers use German soldiers in "a combined system of defense" against communism.

"WELCOME, SPRING!"

How about it—got that "new-car" fever?

Got a hankering to take hold of a brand-new wheel—touch off the power in a smooth, firm, lively new engine—set out to meet spring in fresh new styling and sparkling colors?

Got a suppressed desire to make it really something good this time—and step away in a Fireballing new Buick, with all its room and comfort and standout styling?

Well—why not?

You know there's no better buy you can make—and no wider choice than you're going to find among Buick's array of beauties for 1950.

You know there's no livelier action—no smoother ride—no roomier comfort for the money than you'll find right here.

And if you don't know it—we'd like to repeat this:

If you can afford a new car, you can afford a 1950 Buick.

The SPECIAL's prices start just above the lowest bracket. You can choose between thrifty standard-finish models — and de luxe versions a bit richer in trim and outside finish.

You can have a Coupe, two-door or four-door models—sleek-lined jetbacks or tourbacks with roomy luggage compartments.

You can dress them up, if you like, with a long list of added equipment—including 1950 Dynaflow Drive* for instance—or hold the list down to the essentials everyone wants.

And your budget is going to find continuing reason to be content that you blossomed out in a Buick.

For in the hands of owners, the SPECIAL is proving thrifty to run as well as thrifty to buy—and what more could you ask?

Which suggests—why not see your Buick dealer now and ask him the exact details and prices, trade-ins, delivery and terms?

Kansas City Votes Higher School Tax

KANSAS CITY, March 29—(AP)—A higher public school tax was approved Tuesday by Kansas City voters paving the way for a full 40 week term during the next two years.

With 408 polling places reported out of 412, the vote was 67,154 yes 29,402 no. The four outstanding polling places could not defeat the measure, which will raise the school tax 38 cents per $100 assesed property valuation. It has been $1 per $100.

The tally was well above the two thirds majority required to pass the higher levy.

If the measure had failed, Kansas City public schools faced being dropped from the accredited list by the North Central Association of colleges and secondary schools.

The school term this year ends April 28, six weeks short of the normal 40 week term, because of lack of funds.

Contend One of Lines Solvent

ST. LOUIS, Mar. 29—(AP)—Objections to the plan or reorganization proposed by the Interstate Commerce Commission for the Missouri Pacific Railroad were raised Tuesday before Federal Judge G. H. Moore by John S. Elliott and the protective committee for the holders of the railroad's 5¼ per cent secured series gold bonds.

In their objections, Elliott and the committee joined forces to ask the court to discharge the New Orleans, Texas & Mexico Railway Company from the bankruptcy reorganizaztion proceedings. The groups argued that the N.O.T.&M. is solvent, that it has increased its revenues in its operations in Texas and the southwest by more than 48 per cent while its parent company, the Missouri Pacific, has experienced a 10 per cent decline in business in the southwest.

Carl H. McClure III of New York City, counsel for the protective committee, told Judge Moore that the two railroads are "going in different directions." He pointed out that there would be no disadvantage in putting the N.O.T.& M. back on its own feet except to the creditors of the parent company, who would lose the benefit of acquiring the subsidiary at a bargain.

The protective committee and the John Speed Elliott interests charge that Guy A. Thompson is acting as trustee for the N.O.T.& M. and for the M.P. had acted contrary to the best interest of the N.O.T.&M. and to the benefit of the M.P.

The plan is the third to come before the court in the 17 years the railroad has been in receivership. Thompson, an attorney, has been trustee in bankruptcy since 1933.

Given Sentences On Fraud Charges

OTTAWA, Kas., March 29—(AP)—Marshall J. Worthington unexpectedly pleaded guilty to part of criminal charges against him arising from collapse of his used car and trucking business in 1947.

Worthington admitted guilty to 13 counts of obtaining a total of about $80,000 by false pretenses from the Ottawa Finance Company. He also withdrew an appeal to the supreme court from conviction in January of obtaining $3,000 fradulently from the Peoples State Bank of Princeton.

District Judge Hugh Means passed three sentences of from one to five years each, two of the sentences to run concurrently.

County attorney Myron Steere dismissed four other cases pending against Worthington, also a perjury charge against his father, Harry Worthington.

The charge to which he pleaded guilty today was one on which he was tried a year ago, resulting in jury disagreement. Still pending against him is a civil suit brought by the Ottawa Finance for recovery of $70,000.

Worthington listed $360,000 liabilities and $210,000 assets when his business collapsed.

The grebe can fly through or under water as well as it can in the air.

Mackenzie's Column

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Dr. Konrad Adenauer, chancellor of the west German government, declares that "the temptation to make war is greater for Russia than is generally believed."

The chancellor maintains that peace can be secured "only if the Soviet leaders are convinced of the futility of conquering Europe." Therefore he feels the "time has come to act" in order to demonstrate the futility of preparedness.

One would find it hard to quarrel with the chancellor's assay of the situation. Russia has been building up her military strength in eastern Europe. She has consolidated her German zone of occupation, in which she not only maintains a great standing army but is creating a German military force.

Not Ready For War

Meantime western Europe, despite elaborate preparations for defense, isn't ready for a major war. And Adenauer points out that if western Europe were occupied by Russian armies "those who could contribute to the rebirth of a western democracy. . . . would be liquidated."

If that is a correct estimate of the situation, then it is safe to assume that Russia must at least have given academic consideration to the general proposition. The idea of course would be to strike before the western nations were fully set for action.

So in theory, at least, the temptation for Russia to strike may be there. Of course it is precisely because of this that the military leaders of the 12 Atlantic treaty allies, including America's general Omar Bradley, are meeting this week at The Hague to consider regional defense plans. And linked in a general way was the meeting last week in Rome of America's six top European ambassadors to consider ways and means of countering Communism.

Might Strike Quick Blow

So the temptation might be there for Russia to strike a quick blow. However, Moscow certainly would find strong arguments against any such move.

Perhaps the greatest deterrent would be that Russia isn't yet prepared to compete with the United States in atomic warfare. Moreover, the conflict between Communism and democracy in Asia is still in its beginnings. One wouldn't expect Moscow to undertake a two-front shooting war at this juncture.

If Russia were in possession of all Germany, the story might be different. That would give Moscow the key position in continental Europe.

However, the only way the Muscovites could get possession at this juncture would be through a shooting war, which most observers feel the Soviet Union does not want. Therefore it is likely the Communists will confine themselves to fifth column assaults on western Germany. The current preparations for youth demonstrations are part of the fifth column offensive which daily gathers strength.

No Sweeping Change Expected

There's no reason to anticipate sweeping changes in the European situation pending further developments in the Asiatic theatre. As this coulmn has indicated previously, the balance of power in Asia will go far towards determining the conflict of the ideologies.

Still, as Chancellor Adenauer says, the temptation is there for Russia to make war in Europe. The answer to that is preparedness by the western allies.

As for the cold war, Canadian prime minister Louis St. Laurent summed the thing up neatly yesterday in a speech at Toronto. He said the cold war depends on a change in the attitude of Russia, which "is not going to come overnight," and may not come for a generation.

Drowns Baby In Bath Water

AKRON, O., March 29.—(AP)—An attractive, 19-year-old woman was held under guard in city hospital today, charged with drowning her baby.

Police Captain John F. Struzenski said the woman, Mrs. Angelo Rose Du Fala, had admitted holding the 11-day-old infant, Thomas, face downward in his bath water yesterday.

The police captain said he had not been able to determine a motive for the act. A psychiatrist was called in to examine the woman last night, but he reported she wass too agitated for immediate questioning.

Police said the woman's husband, Thomas R. Du Fala, a rubber company worker, reported he found her crying hysterically when he came home. He rushed the child to a hospital, but efforts to revive it failed.

The baby was the couple's only child. A first degree murder charge was placed against the woman after Coroner C. I. Martin reported the death a homicide.

Scout Training Saved a Life

PITTSBURGH, March 29—(AP)—"There was no place else with grass where we could play."

That's why the boys said they climbed a 10-foot wire fence into a Duquesne Light company substation lot in the west end.

Henry Leonhiser, 10, more daring than his pals, climbed 20 feet up on a steel framework supporting high tension cables.

Henry slipped, grasped a 11,000 volt live wire and fell back on a steel beam.

There was a blinding flash. Henry was flung out and down in a shower of sparks.

"He's dead!" cried the boys and scrambled over the fence for home.

Jimmy Connors, 13, stopped. He went back and beat out sparks in Henry's clothing. Then he lay down, cupped his mouth of his playmate's lips, and breathed hard.

"These were just things I remembered from my cub scout lessons," he said. Artificial respiration is recommended for victims of electric shock.

Attorney Gets $225,000 Fee

CHICAGO, March 29—(AP)—A Chicago attorney who won his client a $1,295,878 judgment against eight major film distributing companies today was awarded a fee of $225,000 by federal judge John P. Barnes.

The attorney, Thomas C. McConnell, represented the Towne theater, Milwaukee, Wis., in an anti-trust suit against the film distributors. The judgment was awarded Feb. 9.

The suit was based on charges that the film firms conspired to restrain trade in denying first run films to the Towne theater. The award was granted for damages allegedly suffered by the theater as a result of the alleged conspiracy.

McConnell said that under the law the defendants must pay his fee. They are Loew's Inc., Paramount Pictures, Inc., RKO, Twentieth Century Fox, Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., Warner Brothers Circuit Management Corp., Warner Brothers Theaters, Inc., and Columbia Theaters Corp.

Criminal Case Is Postponed

The criminal case of E. H. Schlotzhauer, Smithton and William Williams, rural route, Sedalia, charged with a statutory offense, which was set for Tuesday, April 4 at Marshall for trial, has been reset for Tuesday, May 2.

Resetting of the case resulted from a request of the defense attorney George H. Miller, who appealed to the court because of the city election being held April 4. Miller is city chairman of the Republican committee. Fred F. Wesner, also defense attorney, said he would be willing to try the case but felt it would take more than one day to hear all the evidence.

Prosecuting attorney William F. Brown vigorously opposed the continuance of the case as it has been on the docket for nearly a year.

Not Enough Time

Judge Dewey Thatch, Clinton, who had agreed to hear the case after a request was made by Judge Phil Cook, Marshall, who has been called to the Kansas City circuit on a mandate from the supreme court, said he would be unable to spend more than one day hearing the case. Judge Thatch explained the docket in his own circuit was such he would be unable to spend more than one day in Saline county at this time.

Judge Cook, when notified of the situation by Prosecuting attorney Brown said the docket in Saline county was such it could not be tried until May 2 and set case for trial on that date.

Sheriff John Taylor is endeavoring to notify all witnesses who have been subpoenaed of the change in date.

Two Damage Suits Filed

Two damage suits were filed in circuit court late Tuesday evening totalling $35,000 against Dr. Gulph W. Grove of Knob Noster as a result of an accident which occurred about eight miles west of Sedalia on Highway 50, September 12, 1949. The suits were brought by Ruth Hicks, Versailles, for $25,000 and Carl A. A. Engwall, Versailles, for $10,000.

The petition of Miss Hicks is for injuries she alleges she received while riding in a car driven by Engwall, which figured in a collision with a car driven by Dr. Grove. Miss Hicks was a patient in the Bothwell hospital for several weeks following the accident.

Dr. Grove was also slightly injured in the accident and was hospitalized for a time at the Bothwell.

Engwall's petition is also for injuries received in the accident.

Republican Criticism

Republican critics said the president was operating on the assumption that the committee would make public the FBI records, or part of them. These Republicans said there was no intention to take any such action.

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), a member o fthe subcommittee, said he can't see how the committee members will be able to pass on the validity of the McCarthy charges unless they can look at the records themselves.

Senator Brewster (R-Me) said the president's refusal of the file "is based on a lack of confidence in congress."

"The courts must determine whether such a refusal is justified under the constitution," he declared. "The power of the executive to defy congress in matters of personnel may well determine the control of the government."

Mr. Truman cited precedents for his refusal to open the files. Tydings and other Democrats said they have no doubt the courts will uphold the president's authority in such cases.

Tired of Being Rich Man's Son

LONGVIEW, Wash., March 29.—(AP)—Fourteen-year-old Richard Dix, Jr., son of the late movie star, was headed back to Los Angeles today, after an interrupted excursion "to see how the other half lives."

Police Sgt. Ralph Benefiel said the boy told officers here he left school because he was "tired of being a rich man's son."

The youngster was picked up with a 16-year-old companion, William Sturdevant, of Portland, Ore., yesterday because officers thought they looked too young to be driving. They were in a car registered to Mrs. Dix.

The two youngsters said they were headed for Ilmaco, a Washington coastal town, where the younger boy said he planned to enter school, get a job and be on his own.

Neither boy had any money when stopped. They had a credit card for gasoline and told Benefield they had sold a portable radio for $12 to pay for meals.

Chop Quarter Billion Out Of Foreign Aid

House Slash Led by Republicans As to Spending

By W. H. Mobley

WASHINGTON, March 28—(AP)—House advocates of cuts in foreign spending succeeded Tuesday in chopping $250,000,000 out of Marshall Plan funds for the year beginning next July 1.

Shortly afterward, a group of farm legislators got enough support to take out of the foreign aid bill a provision substituting $1,000,000,000 worth of government-owned surplus food for that amount of European recovery cash.

The net effect was to make the European section of the aid bill a $2,700,000,000 cash allotment, down a quarter of a billion from what President Truman wanted.

The cut-foreign-spending forces, led by Republicans, failed earlier in an attempt to reduce the appropriation by $500,000,000.

Tomorrow much the same forces that knocked out the surplus-substitute provisions will try to tie up the cash for open market purchase of the same sort of surplus commodities that would have been obtained from government stocks under the bill's original language.

Take Up Amendments

Voting on amendments got underway after several Republican representatives called for reductions. They argued that too much spending abroad weakens this country and may even smooth the path of Russian aggression.

The administration hit back with the contention that Russia will never set an hour for an attack on the U. S. "If we do the thing we ought to do in our self-interest." Democratic leader McCormick (Mass) made that reply for the Truman forces.

Rep. Hope (R-Kas), ranking GOP member of the agriculture committee, joined in the attack on the surplus-substitute provision. He said it goes "counter to the agricultural program" and against the ECA policy of operating through trade channels.

Before the votes on reductions, the House Republican policy committee agreed anew to work for cuts, but Rep. Martin (R-Mass), the party leader, said the group did not settle on a specific amount.

Rep. Short (R-Mo) led off the GOP attack in the house with the statement that he wonders sometimes if by spending so many millions abroad we are not "playing into the hands of Russia."

Walnut Grove Club Meeting

The Walnut Grove Homemakers club met at the home of Mrs. Wray Schreoder Thursday, March 23, with Mrs. F. O. Rimel, president, presiding.

The devotional was given by Mrs. J. J. McBride and Mrs. Schreoder, song leader, led the group in singing, "Home Sweet Home" and "The Old Rugged Cross."

Roll call was answered by eight members.

Miss Lillian Watkins, home agent, gave an interesting talk on "Energy Conservation and Tips on Washing and Ironing." She also demonstrated a number of the new electric and steam irons.

A social hour followed the business session at which time the hostess served refreshments.

Senators Vote Today on Natural Gas Bill

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, March 29 — The natural gas industry's smoothest salesman will learn today whether he has made his biggest sale.

He is amiable, persuasive Sen. Bob Kerr, Oklahoma Democrat, who has been trying to sell the Senate on exempting natural gas producers from federal regulation. For three weeks he has been shuffling from senator to senator, haranguing, cajoling, pumping them full of sales talk. This afternoon they will give their answer in a roll-call vote.

Already a millionaire oilman, Kerr has a financial stake in his own salesmanship. During most of his one year in the senate, Kerr's voting record has been for the public interest. But in the gas bill, his gain would be the public's loss, for the consumers must eventually pay any resulting increase in the cost of gas. Certainly the reason the natural gas companies want to escape federal regulation isn't to reduce prices.

Whatever the outcome, the senator from Oklahoma has set a record in senatorial salesmanship. He nursed his bill every step of the way, fighting for it comma by comma in the senate and even turning his homey charm on President Truman to get a White House endorsement.

On the senate floor, Kerr set up a wall of billboard-size charts and graphs, portraying the natural gas industry from every statistical view. With this as a backstop, he ambled up and down the senate chamber, haggling with opponents face to face, gesturing under their noses, pleading in whispers with the nearest senator when someone else had the floor.

Kerr Oversells

At times, Kerr's informal manner and easy drawl gave the senate the atmosphere of an Oklahoma town meeting. But of late, his persistency has got under senatorial skins. Kerr has made the mistake of over selling. Twice in one day senate majority leader Scott Lucas politely called him down for wandering away from his seat and sitting almost under the nose of the senator who was speaking.

When Kerr kept this up the next day, Missouri's senator Forrest Donnell broke in impatiently: "Mr. President, I make the point of order which was made twice yesterday against the senator from Oklahoma. Under the rules of the senate, senators are supposed to be at their seats when they speak."

As the debate wore on, Kerr challenged everyone who took the floor against him. He kept interrupting Missouri's senator James Kem, for example, until the irritated Kem retorted:

"I shall answer any questions the senator puts to me in my own way, in my own words, in my own time and at such length as I see fit."

"If the senator cares to indulge in personal remarks, that's all right," shrugged Kerr.

"If the senator wants to indulge in personalities, let the bars go down," snapped Kem.

They glowered at each other for a moment, then fell back to the polite, formal language of the senate.

Charm Peddler

At another point, Kerr suggested that Sen. Paul Douglas' arguments "would cause the junior senator from Illinois to become a joint author of the bill."

"God deliver us from that!" cried Douglas.

"I am sure that he will — tour mutual gratification," bristled the senator from Oklahoma.

"I should like to be with the Lord, and I should like to be with the junior senator from Oklahoma," smiled Douglas, "but not on this particular question."

Between spurts of fire, the debate was dull and technical. Kerr was assisted principally by Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas who also flitted from senator to senator, turning on the charm when arguments failed.

It will be interesting to see how much the charm of two freshmen senators will cost the nation's natural gas consumers.

Note — Since this column has been critical of Senator Kerr, it is only fair to report his criticism of me. Here it is: "And then there is good, old Drew Pearson — good, old Drew," said Kerr in the middle of his main speech. "No wonder American Broadcasting Company puts Airwick on the air for 15 minutes after he gets through. Boy, oh boy, do they need it."

Merry-Go-Round

The reserve officers association knows how to keep sweet with the administration. It dedicated its new song to Harry Truman, with special credit to Harry Vaughan. . . . Florida is a long way from Washington State. But George Fuller, the west coast lumber lobbyist, intervened in Florida politicos recently — against Sen. Claude Pepper. This ties in with heavy GOP interest in backing Rep. George Smathers against Pepper in the Florida primary. The young Republican committee of Volusia county, Florida, has now come out in the open in support of Smathers. . . . An uncle of congressman Hugo Sims claims he watched a flying saucer for 15 minutes in South Carolina. This report brought congress' leading scholar on flying saucers, Andy Jacobs of Indiana, hotfooting it to Sims' office for a detailed account. . . . Administration leaders are worried about another open break between northern big-city Democrats and southern farm Democrats as a result of the Dixiecrat-GOP coalition which wrecked the middle-income housing program. Some northern Democrats are so furious that they are planning to hit back at the Dixiecrats with a coalition in reverse — teaming up with Republicans against every southern farm bill. . . . Secretary of State Dean Acheson is getting another bombardment from Capitol Hill this week. More than 25 house members, led by Rep. Anthony Tauriello of New York, will register a vigorous protest with the state department against British arms sales to Arab tribes warring on Israel. Acheson is now intervening with the British and it looks as if Arab arms shipments would stop.

June Job Openings

The college senior on the prowl for a job next June would do well to consider school teaching. This advice is made by labor department experts after a study of job openings.

This study, engineered by Bill Batt, Jr., secretary Tobin's hustling economic consultannt, indicates there will be more college graduates than jobs next June. For example, 169 companies that hired 7,300 college graduates last year are looking for only 5,600 this year.

The tightest fields with more graduates than job openings are chemistry, journalism, law, personnel work, pharmacy, and for a few years at least, engineering. In the latter field there are 47,000 graduates for 20,000 openings.

The best chances are in school teaching, where there is a need for 75,000 new teachers and a supply of only 25,000 applicants; also in medicine, dentistry, nursing and social workers.

Tired of 'Red Menace' Talk? Remember Obscure Refugee

By Bruce Biossat

Out in the little town of Cushing, Okla., a man hanged himself in a garage the other day. But this was no ordinary case of a man despondent over ill health, marital or financial troubles.

This man, a 37-year-old Russian immigrant named Jackin Saij, killed himself out of fear. Not sensible, justifiable fear but an unreasoning terror burned into his brain from years of living in a Europe under the shadow of totalitarianism.

It was as if a police state had somehow reached out to crush this frightened refugee even after he had found his way to apparent safety in the expansive freedom of America.

To understand how it could happen you have to know something of Saij's background. He had spent eight years in German prisoner-of-war and displaced person camps. He was thoroughly distrustful of police and probably of public authority generally.

Under this country's DP program, an Oklahoman brought Saij and his wife to Cushing to work as servants. After a while the Russian became interested in listening to radio newscasts to "learn the truth."

The tragic finish of his grim existence was touched off by broadcasts of the Coplon-Gubitchev spy trial. Following it eagerly, Saij thought he heard his own name mentioned several times. He was mistaken, of course. Newscasters were using the word "spy," but in his fear-struck mind it registered as "Sigh," which is how his name is pronounced.

Not stopping to reason that no one in America could possibly want to bother him seriously, accustomed only to the arrogant brutalities of an all-powerful police, Saij concluded he was marked for arrest and perhaps death. So he hanged himself.

When his wife heard what he had done, she showed by her reaction that she, too, is still in the grip of terror.

She asked that her husband have a decent burial. "Please don't throw him naked into a trench," she begged.

Stories like this do not need to be embellished with generalities about their meaning. Their meaning is self-evident.

When you feel weighted down by the strains of the cold war and are sick of hearing about the "Communist menace," remember Jackin Saij. His story ought to be a sure cure for flagging resistance.

Subversion is Not a Civil Right

There should be little quarrel with the U. S. Court of Appeals' decision declaring the government's loyalty program constitutional.

A lot of confused thinking has become entangled with the arguments over this program. Much of it comes from well-meaning individuals who are sincerely concerned about guarding civil liberties.

But the basic fact to remember is that an American's civil rights do not include any absolute right to work for the government regardless of his personal political views.

Free speech, the right of dissent and all that have nothing to do with the issue. These are privileges that do not extend in their fullest sense to individuals who choose to work for the government.

A government has the right to command the fundamental loyalty of its employes. How could it function were it to be manned by persons bent on subverting it?

Make Your Bids, Gentlemen

We're happy to note that Queen Mary, Britain's queen mother, has now done her bit to close Britain's troublesome "dollar gap." She has woven an elaborate rug, which has just arrived in New York and will be exhibited in cities throughout America.

The British government of course wants to sell the rug and it has advised us how to enter any purchase bids we may wish to make. They are to be sent to the governor of the Bank of England, in envelopes bearing the simple notation: "Queen Mary's Rug."

No boxtops from English cookie packages need be included. But be careful that you don't write: Queen Mary, Rugs. She's not in the business permanently, even though this one took her eight years.

• So They Say

The idea seems increasingly prevalent in industrial and financial circles that our great industrial unions should be attacked and crippled, one by one. This idea should be knocked in the head.

GETTING RID OF FEARS BY TASKS

Now that you have turned over your fears and anxieties to God and have left them there, take the next step. (11) Deliberately take on yourself some task to help others. You have turned over your fears and anxieties to God, not to become a vacuum, but to have a heart that now has room and inward leisure for other people's troubles. Dr. Woodall tells of a woman who was an invalid with high blood pressure and other ailments. She was always thinking about herself and rarely ever talked of any subject other than her disease; she lay in bed and performed no household duties. Her husband was suddenly taken very ill and seemed to be on the point of death. Aroused by this danger, she got out of bed and helped to nurse her husband back to health. When she forgot her own ailments in her endeavor to help him, she herself got well. Health will come only in healthy activity.

John Wesley speaks of living "with a slack rein." That was true of him—he knew how to relax; but when he worked, how he did work! The slack rein was in order to have a tighter rein.

A watchmaker told a friend, in reply to his question as to why he kept his watches and clocks always running: "In order that they may be kept in better condition." You and I are made for constructive activity, and health will come to us as a by-product. Don't sit and talk about your ailments, or you'll have more and more to talk about. We are told that frogs will not croak in running water—only stagnant water. You will become a croaker if your life is stagnant. Get into the stream of helpful activity and you'll cease croaking; and in the end you'll "croak" before your time!

You must learn to be passive before God and active before men. Take in from God as you live in the passive voice; then give out to others as you live in the active voice. These are the two heartbeats of your life: passive, active. You submit to God, but you don't submit to anything else. Then you are creative and masterful.

O God, Thou art healing me in order to make me a center of healing. This precious gift I hold within my hand, not to gaze at in joyful reverence, but to pass it on. Freely I have received; help me freely to give. In Jesus' name. Amen.

The Doctor Says—

Electric Needle is Only Safe Way to Remove Excess Hair

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Written for NEA Service

Excessive hair on the face, arms or legs worries a great many women. Although not dangerous to life or health, it does cause a great deal of mental suffering.

Why some women have more hair than others is not clearly understood but it certainly happens. Excessive hairiness is caused by disease only rarely. In such cases there is a clue in the fact that hairiness has not always been present.

If the hair starts growing rapidly, careful physical examination and diagnostic studies should be made. In the vast majority, the hairiness of the face or arms is unexplained except that some inherited factor from one or the other parent may have something to do with it.

There are several ways of attacking this problem. The hair can be saved. This is satisfactory for a short time but generally results in a gradual thickening of the hair and its even more conspicuous appearance as time goes on. The hair can be bleached or dyed but it often continues to grow out, so this has to be repeated frequently.

The hair may be taken off with hair removers which generally consist of some kind of wax which fastens to the hairs and pulls them out by the roots. This is painful and, of course, the hair will grow again. It is not particularly soothing to the skin either!

There are "stones" available which may be used to wear off the hair by friction. This must be frequently repeated and may irritate the skin as well.

Most doctors believe that there is only one safe method of permanent removal of excessive hair. That is treating the roots of the hair by electric needle. It is painful, rather expensive, and takes a lot of time. It is used frequently, however, especially for hair on the face.

X-Rays Dangerous

Another method of removing the hair has been tried in many parts of the country. This is the use of X-rays—a dangerous method. A number of cases of severe burns caused by X-Rays used for excessive hair have been reported. Recently one person complained of severe burns on the arms and legs resulting from X-ray treatments taken over a four-year period of removal of hair—but the hair was not even removed.

The only safe and permanent treatment at present seems to be the lengthy, time-consuming, and painful one of the electric needle. A better method would be helpful, but until it is developed, it is important to avoid unnecessary risks.

FINGERPRINTS Don't Lie

By Rupert Hughes

Dist. by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Private detective Martin Queripel is trying to clear Paul Moody, a young sculptor, of charges in the murder of Wendell Palmer, father of Moody's fiancee Azalea Palmer. Fingerprints on the base of a telephone used to bludgeon Palmer to death were believed to be Moody's until Queripel shows police detective James Stivers that Moody's had been substituted for those of the real murderer during the police investigation of the crime. Queripel and Stivers now have gone to Palmer's home to make a further check. Queripel is certain that the real murderer is Pete Kelso, another police detective.

• • •

POLICE DETECTIVE STIVERS still couldn't see what had happened to the fingerprints he had taken from the telephone base and Martin Queripel began to straighten him out. He pointed to those marked "telephone base."

"Somebody lifted your labels from the telephone prints and stole the original fingerprints. Then he pasted your labels on the tapes you lifted from one of Paul Moody's bronze statues," Queripel explained.

"Who on earth could have done it?"

"Don't ask me. Tell me," Queripel demanded. "Who was with you at the Palmer home? Who was with you at the Moody studio?"

"Only Pete Kelso. But—"

"Was he ever alone with the prints?"

"No-o-o—yes! I went upstairs to Moody's living quarters and worked there awhile. I left Kelso downstairs in the studio with my kit. But what reason would Pete Kelso have for changing the prints?"

Queripel let him have it. "What reason would any murderer have for stealing the prints that proved his guilt?"

Stivers gaped like a man hit in the midriff. As soon as he could catch his breath he gasped:

"Good Lord, Queripel, you don't mean to say that Kelso — that Kelso—killed Wendell Palmer?"

"Somebody crushed Palmer's skull with the bloody base of that telephone. The man who did it left his fingerprints on the felt base. Your prints eliminate Moody so far as his ever wielding that telephone base as a weapon. But somebody did. The weapon did not kill alone."

Stivers groaned as Queripel went on:

"Cheer up, man. You did your work perfectly. But you couldn't be expected to distrust another member of the police force. Yet it's the old Latin saying all over again. 'Who will guard the guards?' We have guardians, and most of them are willing to risk death at heir task. But you can't guarantee that all of them will or that all of them are honest. The very honesty of the honest ones works to protect the crookedness of the crooks."

From his utter misery Stivers spoke:

"You're accusing Kelso of murder and of destroying the evidence against him. That's a pretty serious charge, Queripel. You haven't an iota of evidence against him."

"That's all too true," said Queripel. "You've got to start all over and get it."

"But how? Where?"

"I'll admit the trail is pretty cold by now. Kelso probably destroyed the prints you took from the telephone, if my theory is correct," said Queripel. "But when you collected your specimens from the Palmer home, did you take any from the back doors or window sills or other places the killer might have entered?"

• • •

STIVERS sighed. "Of course not," he said. "I suppose you'll think I'm a poor cop. But the case seemed open-and-shut against Moody. He had been seen going in the front door shortly before the discovery of the crime. Kelso brought in the names and addresses of several people who had seen him enter."

"Kelso! Kelso!" snapped Queripel. But he didn't condemn Stivers as a "poor cop." Queripel himself, from the newspaper accounts, had at first believed in Moody's guilt. Who would doubt the evidence of fingerprints? "But," Queripel went on, "the killer might well have slipped in the house by the back way, or come through the cellar door, or climbed over a window sill. You naturally assumed he came in the front door. But assuming is dangerous."

Poor Stivers nodded and tossed his hands in helplessness. His pride had suffered in his fall. Queripel revived him with a word:

• • •

DETECTIVE JAMES STIVERS leaped to his feet with a renewal of life and hope and self-respect. From his chief he quickly obtained permission to complete the checking of the Palmer home for prints.

Indeed, Stivers was furnished with a key to the front door, since the house had been locked up and more or less sealed after the first debris of the murder had been removed. Azalea Palmer had been taken away from the grewsome emptiness by her friend Nadine Fennell and was now living with Nadine's parents in their apartment.

Because there was no police car available, Queripel took Stivers in his own machine. They parked the car at a distance from the house.

It was Martin Queripel's first visit and the huge Palmer home seemed to him to be something like a mausoleum when he first walked into it.

But Queripel brushed aside this feeling and in another moment he was a detective again.

Career Women Who Marry Often Miss Lost Individuality

Here's a letter that might help any number of husbands to understand their wives better.

At the time of my marriage five years ago I had an interesting job and many friends in the business world.

"I quit the job of my own free will because it didn't mean as much to me as my marriage, my home, and my husband's career.

"I never dreamed how much I would miss that job. Not only the work itself, which was a daily challenge, but the business friends, the feeling of belonging in a special place, and most of all the satisfaction of being somebody in myown right.

"Don't misunderstand me. I am not feeling sorry for myself nor do I think I made a wrong decision when I gave up a career for marriage.

"All I am trying to say is that it isn't as easy as you think it is going to be. And trying to shift your interest to your husband's career isn't as simple as it sounds —at least it hasn't been for me. My husband actually tells me so little about his work I can't feel that it is any real concern of mine."

They Feel Frustrated

That letter, I think, states pretty clearly the sense of loss and frustration a lot of working girls experience when they give up a career for marriage.

It isn't that they regret the decision or think for one moment that they would have been happier with a career and no husband than with a husband and no career. It is just that having once known what it was to be somebody in their own right, it is sometimes a little lonely and rather hard on the ego to try to get the same satisfaction out of someone else's career.

Theatre Men Pleased With Movies Coming

Sedalia Operators Have Attended Regional Meeting

An aggressive program to inform the public of the outstanding motion pictures coming from Hollywood to the nation's theatres has been announced jointly by Joe Ruddick and J. T. Ghosen, Sedalia theatre operators following their return from a regional conference of more than two hundred motion picture exhibitors held recently in Kansas City under the sponsorship of 20th Century-Fox.

The local exhibitors revealed that this program is directly based on the Calibre of the films scheduled for the current season which will satisfy the needs of the public in their demands for even finer film entertainment. They reported that the main points of the program discussed at the conference were:

1. Constant striving for better pictures through better subject material.

2. Getting honest information to patrons about these films in advance so they can plan their amusement budgets.

3. Promotion of public service methods wherein the theatre can best serve the community in which it is situated.

Upsurge in Production

In connection with the first point, the theatre men observed that the year 1950 will see a tremendous upsurge in the production of unusually important motion pictures and stated, "Never has Hollywood provided so much for such a small part of the public's entertainment dollar. Capital investment of the studios is almost three billion dollars to annual payrolls of $706,000,000. This tremendous effort, backed by $66,000,000 a year for advertising filters into every community including our own. As a source of income, tax-wise, both municipal and federal, motion picture theatres in Sedalia provide thousands of dollars yearly for the support of government. In dollars and cents, as well as in the amount of pleasure offered for our citizens, this vast industry is marshalling its forces to present its most significant contribution in the many years it has been in existence.

Shows Coming

"For example, in the next few weeks to come, the Fox, Uptown and Liberty theatres will show:

"Mrs. Mike" from the celebrated northwest woods story, starring Dick Powell and Evelyn Keyes.

"Cheaper by the Dozen," technicolor version of the best-seller with Clifton Webb, Myrna Loy, Jeanne Crain.

"Twelve O'Clock High," absorbing air drama starring Gregory Peck and Academy Award winner Dean Jagger.

"Mother Didn't Tell Me," sprightly domestic comedy featuring Dorothy McGuire and William Lundigan.

"Riding High," new Bing Crosby story with an all-star cast.

"Nancy Goes to Rio," musical in technicolor, with Ann Southern and Jane Powell.

"Key to the City," starring Clark Gable and Loretta Young in a romantic comedy.

"Cinderella," Walt Disney's captivating technicolor version of the all-time favorite.

"Francis," the hilarious tale of the talking army mule (from Missouri).

"Christopher Columbus," technicolor picturization of one of history's most fascinating adventures, starring Frederic March in the title role.

All the King's Men, Flamingo road, Night Unto Night, The Younger Brothers, Colorado Territory, The Fountain Head, Girl From Jones Beach, Look for the Silver Lining," "White Heat," "Task Force," "Beyond the Forest," "Always Leave Them Laughing," The Inspector General, Montana, Backfire, Holiday in Havana, Tokyo Joe, And Baby Makes Three, Tell It to the Judge, Traveling Saleswoman, The Nevadan.

Virtually all of these will be seen by Sedalia audiences between Easter week and Decoration Day week and advance production schedules indicate that there will be no letdown on through the summer months.

"We have always been completely convinced that the motion picture patrons get more for their money in entertainment and inspiration than is the case in any other amusement field and did not have to attend a meeting anywhere to acquire our conviction that motion pictures have done as much, if not more, than any other agency through the years in enlightening and and inspiring the world to better things. This is in the record, in war and peace.

"We did find an enthusiasm and understanding among all branches of the film industry which must inevitably result in finer motion pictures for the American family. The results will be forthcoming on our theater screens to everyone's satisfaction."

City College Wins 71 to 68 Over Bradley

First Cage Team To Take Two Big Events In One Year

NEW YORK, March 29—(AP)—City College of New York registered an unprecedented grand slam in college basketball last night, defeating Bradley 71-68 in finals of the NCAA tournament at Madsion Square Garden. Thus CCNY, which had beaten Bradley, 69-61, in the National Invitation tourney March 18, became the first team to win both major events the same year.

The game was a slam-bang thriller right down to the final buzzer, when it looked like Bradley might pull the game out of the fire.

City was ahead, 69-64, with less than a minute to go when little Gene Melchiorre came through with two rapid-fire, driving lay-ups and the Braves were trailing by only one point.

Then Norm Mager took a long pass, drove under the basket and sank the clincher seconds before the end.

CCNY, the darkhorse of two tournaments, was almost entirely over-looked before the National invitation. Bradley, rated the nation's No. 1 team, was the team to beat.

North Carolina Third

North Carolina State won third place in the NCAA basketball championships by defeating Baylor, 53-41, in a dull consolation game at Madison Square Garden.

A Rundown Of Cardinal Pitchers

All Seven Are Not Ready to Pitch Their Best

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 29 — (AP) — With four weeks of training behind them the St. Louis Cardinals haven't come up with a starting pitcher who has shown he is ready to pitch his best.

Their humiliating 21 to 6 defeat by the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday was an example, but by no means the only one.

Four hurlers gave up 15 hits and 15 bases on balls in that contest. Ken Jonnson was the starter. Reliefers Erv Dusak, Bill Reeder and Jim Hearn also gave up runs.

Some members of the staff lack control, some haven't toughened muscles to the point where they can break a curve and some have a pain or ache that prevents them from putting all they have on their pitches.

Taking the staff alphabetically a rundown shows:

Al Brazle has a sore muscle just below the shoulder and has not been able to pitch in exhibitions.

Harry Brecheen is developing sharpness, but he's far from the control that made him a great pitcher.

Max Lanier is far from ready in all departments. He was pounded in his last appearance.

George Munger is throwing hard but in Monday's game against the New York Yankees he gave 11 hits in five innings, including a home run and triple.

Howard Pollet's arm seems to be all right, but he hasn't been able to put the ball where he wants it.

Gerald Staley seemed to be ahead of the other men on the staff, but in his last start the Cincinnati Reds pounded him for seven hits and five runs in four innings.

Ted Wilks, No. 1 relief man, hasn't been able to throw curves. Manager Eddie Dyer suggested he has been working too hard and needed more rest.

It all boils down to the fact that if the season were to open today Manager Eddie Dyer would not have a pitcher in whom he could have complete confidence.

Star Hockey Player Underwent Surgery

DETROIT, March 29—(AP)—Star wingman Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings was believed out of danger today after undergoing early morning brain surgery to relieve an injury suffered in a Stanley Cup hockey playoff game here last night.

The injury to Howe overshadowed the initial game in the semi-final round of the Stanley Cup championship, generally known as hockey's world series. The Toronto Maple Leafs won 5-0 in a one-sided contest launching a best of seven series.

By winning, the Leafs successfully opened their bid for their fourth straight Stanley Cup. It marked the 12th consecutive time they had beaten the National Hockey league champion Detroiters in a playoff game.

Training Camp Briefs Of The Big Leagues

By The Associated Press

SARASOTA, Fla., March 29—(AP)—With Johnny Mize and Tommy Henrich hobbled with injuries, Joe Collins is making a determined bid to win himself a first base berth with the New York Yankees.

Collins, who hit .319 with Kansas City of the American Association last season, has been one of the leading hitters in the world champions' camp this spring. The six-foot lefthander garnered half of the Yanks' hits—a single and double — yesterday in their 9-5 loss to the Boston Braves.

Made Fine Showing On The Mound

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 29 — (AP) — Monte Kennedy, who has been one of the New York Giants' inferior pitchers this spring, sprang a surprise on Manager Leo Durocher yesterday.

Durocher called on the Virginia lefthander to start against the Cleveland Indians. And Monte surprised everybody by becoming the first hurler on the staff to go seven innings. He held the Indians to three hits and left with a 2-1 lead. Cleveland rallied to win, 4-2.

Boston Red Sox Face N. Y. Yankees

SARASOTA, Fla., March 29—(AP)—Manager Joe McCarthy expects to field his regular lineup for the first time this season as the Boston Red Sox meet the World Champion New York Yankees today at Payne Field in the fourth spring exhibition game between the teams. Johnny Pesky has recovered from pulled leg muscle and will be at third base.

Braves Play Host To Cincinnati Reds

BRADENTON, Fla., March 29—(AP) — Apparently clicking on all cylinders, the Boston Braves play host to the Cincinnati Reds today with Normie Roy and Bobby Hogue listed for mound duty. Defeating the world champion New York Yankees, 9-5, yesterday for their fourth victory in the last five starts, manager Billy Southworth is confident they will continue their winning ways. Veteran outfielder Tommy Holmes, who may start the season in center field in place of Rookie Sam Jethroe who has thus far failed to live up to expectations, banged out a single yesterday pinch-hitting for Warren Spahn.

Zoldak Limited Team To 2 Hits In 6 Innings

TUCSON, Ariz., March 29—(AP) —Sad Sam Zoldak of the Cleveland Indians is going to merit a new nickname if he keeps on pitching like he did yesterday.

The once portly southpaw, now a streamlined 175 pounds, limited the New York Giants to two hits in six innings in an exhibition game at Phoenix.

The Tribe came from behind to racks up its third straight victory over the National Leaguers, 4-2. Sad Sam had two runs scored against him, but both were unearned. He now has pitched 16 consecutive innings without yielding an earned run.

Reds Won 11th In 15 Starts

TAMPA, Fla., March 29—(AP)—It's getting harder and harder to figure out the amazing Cincinnati Reds.

Yesterday they won their sixth straight spring training exhibition game and their 11th in 15 starts by beating the Detroit Tigers, 12 to 7, but—

Ewell Blackwell—their hope to pitch them out of seventh place in the National League — was punched around like a rookie. The Tigers got him for seven runs and eight hits in five innings.

Then to make it all the more confusing, Blackwell came up after the game with the statement that "My arm felt fine . . . I'm more encouraged about staging a comeback than I was during the first ten days of training."

Debut of Appling Has Been Delayed

YUMA, Ariz., March 29—(AP)—The debut of Luke Appling, veteran Chicago White Sox shortstop, as a first baseman has been delayed indefinitely, manager Jack Onslow said today.

Luke was scheduled to cover the first sack today against the St. Louis Browns. But in practice he has had trouble with his footwork and picking up grounders because of the unfamiliar glove.

Appling hasn't been too happy about the switch, but has brightened considerably after assurance from his teammates that he could go on for another ten years as a first baseman.

Cubs and Giants May Do Some Trading

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 29—(AP)—Talent chief Wid Matthews of the Chicago Cubs confirmed today that the club's veteran first baseman and outfielder, Phil Cavarretta, may be involved in a trade with the New York Giants.

Matthews said the Giants would like to have Cavarretta.

"We will trade anybody if it will help us," he added.

The hustling Cavarretta has been with the Cubs since 1934.

Phils Buried Cards 21-6

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 29—(AP)—Just what kind of powerhouse has manager Eddie Sawyer of the Philadelphia Phillies assembled for the 1950 National League campaign?

For the second straight day the Phils' hits were good for 31 bases in burying the St. Louis Cardinals, 21-6, yesterday. They had 14 hits against four Cardinal pitchers. On Monday they totaled 31 cases on 17 hits against the Washington Senators.

The Phils power right now is really terrific and Sawyer is hoping they carry it over into the regular campaign. Every man is swinging from the heels with the result that 24 home runs have bounced off Phils' bats this spring.

3-Way Battle for A's Catching Duties

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 29—(AP)—The battle for the Philadelphia Athletics No. 1 catching slot can now be considered a three-way affair.

Fermin (Mike) Guerra arrived in the A's camp yesterday, came to terms with manager Connie Mack and lost no time in getting down to work.

Mike—a full month late in reporting—relieved Joe Astroth for the last five innings of the game with Toronto of the International League, singled home one run, scored once and handled his catching duties with mid-season finesse.

Astroth and Joe Tipton have been battling for the A's regular catching assignment.

21-Year-Old Pitches Today For Pirates

TUCSON, Ariz., March 29—(AP) —Young Bill MacDonald, the Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher who celebrated his 21st birthday yesterday, gets the starting job against the Cleveland Indians in the Bucs exhibition baseball game today.

Pirate fans who keep worrying about the absence of Ralph Kiner and his home run slugging can take it easy. Buc officials say Kiner is available to play if necessary, but they don't want him to take any chances of re-injuring that right wrist by getting back into action too soon.

Ted Wilks Advocates A Wide Home Plate

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 29—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals' ace relief hurler, Ted Wilks, advocates a wider home plate.

He would increase the plate three inches from its present 17-inch width.

"What happens now? We come up with curves, sliders, knucklers and floaters, and sometimes we miss the mark by an inch or two," he said. "When the count gets to three balls and two strikes, a pitcher must cut the next one pretty thin. He can't miss the plate, or it means a walk for the batter, and at the same time he's leveling for those short home run fences."

Player Was Tired But Insisted On Playing

BURBANK, Calif., March 29—(AP)—Frank Gustine, who reported three weeks late for the St. Louis Browns spring training in a run-down and nervous condition, played nine innings at third base yesterday.

He participated in an intra-squad game before the Browns broke camp to begin their 16-day barnstorming trip home.

He had a single in four times at bat and drew a throwing error on two fielding chances.

"Frank was tired, but he insisted on playing the full game," manager Zack Taylor said. "I liked that fellow's attitude when I coached from Pittsburgh in 1947 and I still do."

Will Use Psychology On An Infielder

ORLANDO, Fla., March 29—(AP) —Manager Bucky Harris figures his main job with the Washington Senators is making a big leaguer out of outfielder Gil Coan, who under other managers looked so good and played so bad. The Harris psychology: Leave him alone and let him build up confidence. In the grapefruit league, Coan has hit .300 and hit five homers so far.

Manager of Braves Talks About a Boy

Del Crandall, Kid of 20, is No. 1 Catcher

By Jack Hand

BRADENTON, Fla., March 29—(AP)—Del Crandall, a carrot-topped kid of 20, is ranked by his Boston boss as a young Gabby Hartnett.

"He reminds me of Hartnett when he first came up," said Billy Southworth, manager of the Boston Braves. "Great arm, accurate, too. He's my No. 1 catcher."

"Right now this kid can do everything Cooper could when he came up except hit for distance," said Southworth. "This kid is a good hitter, too. A good receiver. Smart.

"I think if you look up the records you'll find he had more assists than any other catcher in the league, except Roy Campanella.

"And he didn't come up until June."

Crandall has 39 assists in 67 games. Three others had more but they all played around 100 games.

Del is far ahead of his own schedule. When he signed with the Braves in 1948, he set his sights on going south with the big league club in 1950. He went south, all right, but as the first string catcher.

Catcher Speaks

"I wasn't a bonus player," he said, "they guaranteed me a two-year contract with Milwaukee although I was in Leavenworth, Kas., in the Western Association (Class C) the first year in 1948. That was the year the Braves won the pennant. I didn't see the games but I listened on the radio. It was then I set my goal as 1950.

"Last spring I went south with Milwaukee. We trained at Austin, Texas. Just before opening day they sent me out to Evansville, Ind., in the Three-I league (Class B).

"On June 15 I was writing a letter home. We had been rained out six days straight. Our business manager called me up and said I was going up to Boston. At first, I thought somebody was kidding. But no, they told me Mr. Perini (President Lou Perini of the Braves) would have his pilot pick me up that night and we'd join the club at Pittsburgh.

Two days later Crandall was behind the bat, catching a losing game for Bob Hall. For a time he alternated with the lefthanded hitting Bill Salkeld. Down the stretch he did most of the work.

One reason for Southworth's optimism about 1950 is Crandall, an eager youngster whose dreams came true a year ahead of time.

Plans Made For State High School Baseball Meet

ST. LOUIS, March 29—(AP)—Plans for the first state high school baseball tournament to be held at Washington university here May 25-27 were discussed at a meeting last night.

A St. Louis regional committee was named. About 160 schools in Missouri have either baseball or softball teams and are eligible for the tournament. About 32 local teams are expected to enter.

The first round of regional eliminations will be on May 6 and the second round on May 13.

Kryhoski Joins Priddy to Give Detroit Right Side of Infield; $75,000 House Must be Kept

DETROIT — (NEA) — There was nothing wrong with the Tigers last season that a right side of the infield would not have cured.

General Manager Billy Evans hopes he has solved the Detroit problem with the purchase of Second Baseman Jerry Priddy from the Browns and the acquisition of Dick Kryhoski from the Yankees in exchange for Dick Wakefield.

Sueban excellent judge as Manager Bill Meyer of the Pirates, who saw him in the Yankee chain, says young Kryhoski is a potential Lou Gehrig.

Second Line Pitching

Red Rolfe's biggest job at the Lakeland, Fla., camp will be to build a second-line and some relief pitching behind Newhouser, Trucks, Hutchinson, Houtteman and Gray. He has Dizzy Trout and Hal White, of course, but still considers himself thin.

The better new prospects are Art McConnell, Saul Rogovin and Jim Parton. McConnell is a slim right hander who won 17 while losing 11 with Little Rock. Southpaw Rogovin contributed sixteen games to the pennant winning Buffalo club of the International league. Parton, also left handed, won only four while dropping seven for the Bisons, but possesses a fine fast ball.

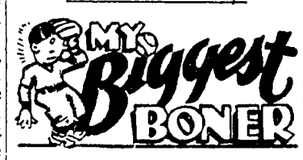

Catcher Buddy House reportedly paid a then record $75,000 for signing, must be retained, although all hands agree he needs further seasoning. Batting .261 for Flint, Mich., of the Class A Central league, the 20-year-old Bessemer, Ala., bonus baby did not look like $75,000 worth.

House having to be kept makes it rough for Joe Ginsberg, who is highly regarded, but the former Detroit sandlotter will get a real chance in competition with Aaron Robinson and Bob Swift. He handled Freddie Hutchinson in a four-hit victory over the Yankees in 1948. A left-hand hitter, he batted .283 with Triple A Toledo last trip.

Looking for a job behind the remarkable young outfield of Wertz, Groth and Evers and Mullin are Johnny Creel and George Lerchen. Creel is back from Little Rock. Lerchen, a good fielder, hit .298 for Toledo.

Bob Mavis, who hit .301 for the Mudhens as the slickest defensive second baseman in the American Association and Al Federoff, up from Little Rock, are utility infield prospects, but the latter will probably be sent out again.

Dick Kryhoski — and Jerry Priddy — could take this Detroit club a long way.

Hutchinson Pegs Too Carefully to Red Sox in Eighth

By Freddie Hutchinson
Detroit Tigers' Pitcher

My biggest boner was pulled at Dtroit's Navin field in 1946.

I had the pennant-winning Red Sox of that year shut out with two out in the eighth inning, and two strikes on the next two hitters.

If memory serves it was Johnny Pesky on whom I had two strikes and no balls before I walked him.

As I recall it, George Metkovitch, batted next, and I had two strikes and one ball on him before issuing free transportation.

That brought up Ted Williams, and naturally I was ordered to put him on, filling the bases.

What galled me, though, was walking the next man, Bobby Doerr, forcing in the only run of the game and beating the Tigers and me, 1-0, despite a 2-hit job on my part.

My mistake, of course, was in pitching too carefully in the situation to Pesky and Metkovitch.

There was vastly less chance of their hitting the ball out of the park than Williams or Doerr. In that setup, I should have made them hit the ball.

I'll never forget it, will never do it again.

Whenever I have two out and two strikes on Ted Williams, or any of the other better sluggers, he'll hit the ball if I have to throw it right through the middle.

I'll give you a written guarantee that he won't walk.

Asks Crops On Airports

SALT LAKE CITY — (AP) — Delbert A. Fuhriman, Utah aeronautics director, says low-growing crops like grain, alfalfa, legumes and grass might be profitable on many airfields. "Some farmed fields might be better to land on than they are in their natural state," he says.

"We can take a lesson from the Flying Farmers in the United States. Many have strips at their landing fields in growing crops. Their safety record is excellent. Besides the cash income from the crops, Fuhriman says, the airports would benefit in weed and mosquito control. He adds that if the land isn't fertile enough to support crops, grass could be grown and erosion reduced.

'Swing Your Partner'---9

By MARGOT MAYO — Leading Square Dance Authority Written for NEA Service

Here's the ninth of 12 lesson articles that show you how to do the basic square dancing steps and some of the advanced figures. Later articles will refer back to earlier lessons, so save them all for future reference.

The sketch at left illustrates the ever-popular elbow swing. In this illustration, a man and lady are elbow-swinging, but the step can be, and often is, performed by two men, or two ladies.

With the dancers in their home positions, the caller will say:

"First couple out with an elbow swing

"Now the second couple do the very same thing."

Or he may call for two gents to do the elbow swing or two opposite ladies, or any combination.

The step is simply to hook right elbows and whirl around once.

The rest of this chapter is devoted to the very famous "pop goes the weasel" dance. Step by step, here is the way you "pop the weasel."

1. The head, or first, lady moves to the couple to her right, joins hands with them and they circle to the left. They circle once and a half,ending up with the second couple's backs to the center.

2. The couple raises its arms, and the first lady pops through, underneath their arms, (see sketch) and proceeds on to the next couple to the right.

3. She joins hands and circles with them. Meanwhile, her partner, the head, or first, gent, follows her to the second couple. Both circle once and a half.

4. And then both are popped throught in the same way the head lady was in part 2 above.

5. The two proceed on to the next couples, the lady by this time circling with the fourth couple, and the gent with the third. They circle once and a half to the left again.

6. And once more they are popped through.

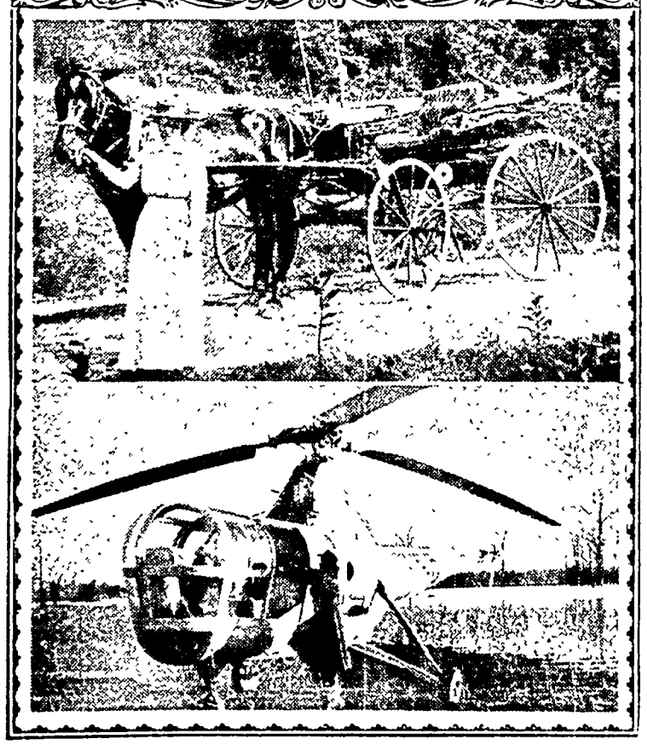

7. But this time the head lady remains in the center of the set, and her partner, after being popped through by the third couple, joins her. Then they circle four hands around with the fourth couple. They again circle once and a half.

8. The fourth couple pops both of them through, and the first couple then returns to place.

9. The figure stars over again, with the second lady leading out to the right, joining hands and circling with the third couple.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

HORSE AND BUGGY TO HELICOPTER is the story of the American Red Cross nurse in the Twentieth Century. Through the years since this vital nursing service was founded in 1910, Red Cross nurses have gone on their errands of mercy by whatever form of transportation presented itself. They have traveled on skis and snowshoes, mounted horses, paddled boats, driven "tin lizzies" through mud and snow and very often walked to visit the sick and injured in isolated or disaster-stricken areas. The "horse and buggy nurse" picture was made shortly before World War I. The "helicopter nurse" shot was taken a few weeks ago, when nurse Myrtle Wilson of St. Louis, Mo., went by Coast Guard 'copter to aid flood victims along the St. Francis River in Arkansas.

Percentages

Blighted areas make up about 20 per cent of metropolitan residential areas in the United States, but they account for 33 per cent of the towns' population, 35 per cent of the fires, 45 per cent of major crimes, 55 per cent of juvenile delinquency, and 60 per cent of tuberculosis victims.

No Federal Tax Required $100 Plate Dinner

Rep. Reed Discloses Ruling on Repast Of Democrats

WASHINGTON, March 29—(AP)—There will be no federal tax on the Democrats' Jefferson-Jackson day $100-a-plate dinner here, the Internal Revenue Bureau has ruled. The decision apparently applies to other Jefferson-Jackson affairs held over the country.

Somewhat in contrast, the Republicans paid 20 per cent on the admissions portions of the receipts from their Lincoln Day $1 box supper.

The Democrats did not call any of their take an admission fee and the Internal Revenue agreed that the admissions levy was not applicable.

Rep. Reed (R-NY) disclosed the decision today in a statement accusing the bureau of "political connivance and political favoritism." It was handed down in response to a query from Reed, ranking Republican on the House Ways and Means committee which writes tax laws.

Internal Revenue officials declined to make public the 2,000-word ruling by Charles Oliphant, chief counsel for the bureau. They would only say that a ruling had been made and delivered to Reed.

In general, Oliphant held that the Jefferson-Jackson Day affair, at which some 5,000 feasted in the national guard armory here, was simply a banquet or dinner in the ordinary meaning of the words, and the tax does not apply.

The real purpose, he said, was to bring together Democrats who had contributed $100 or more to national party funds.

In connection with the argument that the accompanying entertainment brought the affair within range of the admission levy, Oliphant conceded that there were performances by such headliners as Lena Horne, and Tony and Sally De Marco.

But he said that the music and other such features took up only about 30 minutes of the banquet's four hours.

The Jefferson-Jackson Day proceedings brought in $523,000 for the Democratic treasury, on which a 20 percent tax would be over $100,000.

The Oliphant decision was generally in line with Democratic officials' contention at the time.

They did concede that they owed the District of Columbia 2 per cent sales tax on meals costing more than $1.25.

The Republicans split their box supper intake. They charged $1 admission, and called it that, paying 20 percent on it. The $1 additional for a box supper was not taxed.

The treasury's take from the Republican affair was upwards of $2,000. Reed in his statement of protest declared:

"In view of the basic similarity of the two events, both of which included professional entertainment and political speeches, this ruling is a shocking example of taxation by political connivance and political favoritism."
